U.S. Answer May Be Nike X

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications mount that the United States will answer Soviet deployment of an antiballistic missile system by erecting a "thin" Nike X defense carrying an over-all price tag of $3 billion to $6 billion.

At first such an antimissile setup would consist of a dozen Nike Zeus interceptor batteries perhaps spaced along the nation's northern border. This light, or area, defense might involve a first-year installment of several hundred million dollars.

The decision on whether to move ahead in this new phase of strategic weaponry is being hammered out in budget discussions now under way in the Defense Department.

High-ranking officials in other areas reported that the decision will come in January or February — and may hinge on whether the United States can per-sue the Soviet Union to slow down the evasion of the arms race into the antiballistic missile field.

Antimissiles, these officials said, will not alter the present balance of power but will put extraordinary financial burdens on both the United States and the Soviet Union.

In addition to the possible deployment of such missiles in the United States, the administration also is studying the feasibility of having a similar defense system for Western Europe. This issue, it is understood, will be on the agenda of the Atlantic alliance's nuclear planning committee.

Peterson sources pointed today to two factors which they said make it overwhelmingly logical for President Johnson to begin laying out some form of Nike X system:

1. The thin antiballistic missile — ABM — network could fend off a light or accidental launch of Soviet or Chinese missiles in the early 1970s while serving as a base for any future expanded system.

2. An antimissile deployment decision now could serve to disarm critics who otherwise might claim the administration has allowed the development of a crucial missile defense gap.

At present, officials talk in terms of three types of ABM systems:

"Thin" — A $3-billion to $6-billion system of radar-directed Nike Zeus batteries whose missiles would head off an enemy's oncoming warheads as far away as 400 miles, destroying them outside the atmosphere with nuclear bursts.

"Thicker" — A $10-billion to $12-billion setup of Nike Zeus interceptors and their long-range detection radars plus some superfast Sprint missiles which would ascend skyward at a mile a second to knock down any warheads which got past Zeus.

"Thick" — The complete system costing up to $40 billion over a period of years, including large numbers of Zeus and Sprint rockets; missile site radar and multifunction array radar which would not only detect but track and sort out real from decoy missiles; and fallout shelters for millions of Americans.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has maintained in the past that present technology does not permit creation of an infallible missile defense system.

It was McNamara who, at the President's Texas ranch Nov. 10, disclosed the Soviets were deploying an antimissile network.

Ohio Sailor Slashed In Subway Attack

BOSTON (AP)—Two sailors including Lawrence Ghiardelli, 20, of Clinton, Ohio, were hospitalized with serious slash wounds Monday after a subway station knife attack by four youths. Another sailor also was cut.

Police were seeking the perpetrators of the attack that the sailors, who had been in civilian clothes, said was unprovoked and continued until an approaching subway train scared the knife-wielders off.

plumbers, electricians and engineers. Its equipment operators drive $5 million worth of bulldozers, tracks, earthmovers, cranes and rock crushers. Battalion mechanics keep the equipment in repair.

In an eight-month period, the battalions put up 1,007 cantonments for Marines, 51 warehouses, a television station, roads and a dairy.

Detachments from the battalion now are building a Marine rest-and-recreation center at nearby China Beach, improving the river port at Dong Ha near the demilitarized zone, expanding the Dong Ha Marine field hospital, pouring platforms for 175mm guns on the Cam Lo River near Dong Ha and operating a concrete plant and rock quarry.

One officer of the battalion is particularly proud of the four-mile road the unit built linking the Da Nang air base with the headquarters of the 1st U.S. Marine Division. The construction took place during the monsoon season.

McCormack Queried on New Congress

No Fear Indicated On Task Imposed By Reduced Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack said today continued firm leadership in combating aggression and "preserving and carrying out" newborn domestic programs will be the major issues in the 90th Congress.

In response to questions submitted by The Associated Press, McCormack said on the eve of his 75th birthday that he does not look with trepidation at the job of leading the House with greatly reduced strength among Democrats.

The size of McCormack's army of Democrats was trimmed from 295 to 248 in last month's elections, leaving the Democrats a numerical edge of 61 in the new Congress convening Jan. 10.

How much tougher his task will be next year, McCormack said, "depends to a considerable extent on whether or not the great majority of the Republicans in the House adopt and follow a positive and affirmative policy or continue to follow the policy of blind opposition."

During his 38 years in the House, McCormack has engaged in many legislative battles, as a member, as majority leader and as speaker. He has forgotten many of them.

He said the ones that stand out were fights over: "The original Social Security Act, unemployment insurance, minimum wages, housing legislation particularly low-cost housing, extension of the Selective Service Act by the House by one vote in 1941 just before Pearl Harbor when the fate of our country was involved. In the past few years the memorable fights involved rent supplements, demonstration cities, and a number of others."

McCormack has no formula for remaining hale, hearty and active. He doesn't drink alcoholic beverages but smokes cigars by the dozen.

"The good Lord has been very kind to me, which I appreciate," he said. "Mrs. McCormack and I have had a very happy life, always looking to the future in terms of service to our fellow human beings and seeing the good side of life."

Cuyahoga Falls Teachers Raised

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—The Cuyahoga Falls Education Association Monday endorsed a school board pay raise proposal that will boost starting salaries $300 by next September.

The teachers had said they would take "drastic action" if they did not get a raise.

Dr. Harold E. Wilson, school superintendent, said the pay plan calls for raising the base salary by $200 from the present $5,100 rate by the last week of January and granting another $100 hike in September.

Americans Face Soviet Prosecutor

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — A Soviet prosecutor asked that Buel Ray Wortham Jr., of North Little Rock, Ark., be sentenced to a Soviet labor camp for five years for stealing a bear and changing money illegally. He asked that Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. of Salt Lake City be fined $1,111 for a currency violation, but not imprisoned.

Wortham, his face impassive and serious, looked up from the floor to study the three judges' faces as the prosecutor asked them to sentence him to the full three years provided by Soviet law for simple theft. The prosecutor asked for a five-year concurrent sentence for changing dollars illegally. The maximum sentence on that charge is eight years.

Wortham gulped. Both Wortham, 25, and Gilmour, 24, pleaded guilty at the start of the trial Monday. Both testified that Wortham did the actual black market changing of about $75 in dollars and Finnish marks for rubles, that Gilmour gave part of the money to Wortham.

Three Soviet art experts testified today that the 18-inch statue which Wortham admitted taking from his Leningrad hotel room as a souvenir was a valuable national treasure, worth about 300 rubles ($333 at the official exchange rate), and should not be exported because of its importance as an art object.

Slayer of 2 Little Girls Is Sought

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Frank G. Clement posted a $5,000 reward today for the killer of two girls who were bludgeoned to death as they looked for eastway dolls in a city dump.

The governor took the action in Nashville as local merchants started a fund to help the families of the girls, who were found dead Monday.

Clement said the reward to be paid by the state would be added to any local reward funds to be established and "will be paid to whoever supplies information resulting in the conviction of the person or persons responsible for this horrible crime."

Sheriff B. H. Sanders reported that he hoped to make an arrest in the case sometime tonight. He declined to elaborate.

The mud-caked bodies of Deborah Lyn Ray, 9, and her cousin, Phyllis Louise Seibers, 8, were found Monday — 18 hours after William Farrar Jr., 8, saw them playing at the refuse heap.

"Phyllis had fallen down and hurt her leg," the boy said. "I helped her up and told her she ought to go home."

W.E. (Bud) Hopton, director of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification, said the girls apparently were beaten with a blunt instrument.

The girls had been the object of a countywide search since they were left at the dump Sunday by Ricky Ray, Deborah's 12-year-old brother. Police quoted the boy as saying the girls wanted to look for "dolls and toys" in the dump, which is about 150 yards from Deborah's home.

Mrs. Powell Not Present For Hearing

Can Be Held In Contempt Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wife of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. failed to appear today at a congressional hearing to answer questions about her $20,500-a-year salary as his aide.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, chairman of the House Administration subcommittee checking on Powell's travel and payroll expenses, said the U.S. marshal's office has been asked to find Mrs. Powell.

The New York Democrat's wife is one of 17 Powell staff aides subpoenaed to testify at a closed-door hearing. She could be held in contempt of Congress if she fails to appear.

Powell has declined to attend the hearing, which began Monday and is due to end Wednesday. He has not been subpoenaed.

ALL CHILDREN in the city-county area, up to 12-years-old, have been invited to a Christmas party Friday at the Eagles Lodge on E. Main St. . . . The youngsters will be treated from 6:30 to 8 p. m. And Santa Claus will be present. . . . According to Eagle members, Santa will have a sack of goodies for all children making an appearance. . . . The party is an annual Eagles project conducted by the general membership. . . .

The yuletide program for the kiddies took on special meaning this year when David Hughes of Circleville, now stationed with the Armed Forces in Vietnam, sent a sizable contribution to help make the party a success. . . .

AN ELDERLY Circleville resident was taking five letters to the nearest mail box Monday. She became tired and seeing a boy passing by, asked him if he would drop her letters in the box at the corner of Court and Main. . . .

Later, two other young boys found a part of the mail — a check which was the elderly lady's payment for health insurance. . . . They delivered it to the Circleville Police, who promptly contacted the sender. The youths were rewarded for their honesty. . . . Neither the police nor the lady could remember the boys' names.

Canton Offer Is Accepted

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The seat of a mass resignation by about 280 of Canton's 340 police and firemen ended Monday when both departments agreed to accept a $500-a-year pay increase they rejected last week.

Acceptance of the offer was announced jointly by representatives of Local 249 of the International Association of Fire Fighters, AFL-CIO, and McKinley Lodge 2 of the Fraternal Order of Police.

The city's offer also includes pay of time and a half for any work over 40 hours.

With the increase, annual pay for patrolmen and firemen will be $6,800; for detectives, $7,400; for police sergeants and fire captains, $8,000; for police chiefs, $9,200; and for police and fire chiefs, $11,500.

The police and firefighters had sought an across-the-board increase of $600 a year, plus longevity differentials of up to $400 for 20 years service.

U.S. B52's Hit At DMZ Buildup

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — High-flying B52 bombers today carried on the U.S. campaign to smash a North Vietnamese buildup in the demilitarized zone, raining explosives on infiltrating troops in their sixth raid in three days.

U.S. headquarters said the Stratofortress hit troop concentrations in the southern half of the buffer zone a few miles north of the area where five B52 raids struck in the previous two days.

Over North Vietnam, other American bombers, flying through intense flak and challenging MIG interceptors, hit an oil dump 14½ miles north of Hanoi and other targets Monday, U.S. headquarters announced.

Ground fighting in South Vietnam continued on a small scale as the 48-hour truce for Christmas approached. The truce starts at 7 a.m. Saigon time Saturday.

The Viet Cong marked the sixth anniversary today of the founding of the National Liberation Front, their insurgent movement to take over rule of South Vietnam, but an anticipated outbreak of terrorism failed to materialize.

However, South Vietnamese military headquarters reported eight small Viet Cong probe attacks, ambushes and mortar shellings in widely scattered parts of the country.

As the bombing of North Vietnam stepped up Monday, seven flights of Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs pounded the Ha Gia petroleum, oil and lubricant dump 14½ miles north of Hanoi. They were the first raids in the area of the North Vietnamese capital since last Tuesday and Wednesday, when the Communists claimed U.S. bombs fell inside the city itself. The U.S. command denied the Red claims.

A U.S. spokesman said heavy smoke over the oil dump prevented an accurate damage assessment. The fuel installation is only a mile from the Phuc Yen airfield, the major airbase for Communist MIGs in North Vietnam. The MIG base has never been attacked by U.S. bombers, but the nearby oil dump was raided twice before this month.

On the noncombatant side, the annual Christmas invasion of American visitors started.

Judge Orders Bobby Baker To Be Tried

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge says Bobby Baker must stand trial Jan. 9 on charge of tax evasion, theft and conspiracy.

But U. S. Dist. Judge Oliver P. Gasch ruled Monday that some Baker conversations which were monitored by the FBI cannot be introduced in evidence.

Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, claimed the grand jury which indicted him was biased by extensive publicity and that his constitutional rights were violated by the FBI's electronic eavesdropping. He also asked for separate trials on the three categories of charges.

Gasch refused to dismiss the indictment, ruled against separate trials and said any recorded conversation Baker had with persons who cannot be identified will not be introduced.

The Baker case is one of the major ones in the background of the unresolved who-authorized-what dispute between Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., former attorney general, and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Hoover says the Justice Department was aware of FBI eavesdropping practices all along. Kennedy says he didn't know about it.

Nuclear Test Shock Wave Rocks Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A nuclear blast, perhaps the most powerful ever detonated in the United States, was touched off early today in an underground chamber northwest of here.

To observers atop the 24-story Mint Hotel, tallest building in Nevada, the shock wave 30 seconds later was felt as a rolling motion lasting about a minute.

Chandeliers swung about two inches.

A Las Vegas radio station reported receiving a call from a woman sitting in her home who said the motion was like that of a boat in water. . . . a slow back-and-forth feeling, with no jolt.

The blast site was 105 miles distant.

Shock waves of other powerful underground blasts in past years also have been felt in this gambling center.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the device yielded energy of from 200,000 to 1 million tons of TNT, and was expected to rip a huge cavern under a mesa.

The atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima had energy equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT.

The AEC would not say what type device was placed at the bottom of the 4,040-foot shaft drilled into the mesa. Some reports said it was a thermonuclear device—a hydrogen bomb.

— A Soviet prosecutor asked that Buel Ray Wortham Jr., of North Little Rock, Ark., be sentenced to a Soviet labor camp for five years for stealing a bear and changing money illegally. He asked that Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. of Salt Lake City be fined $1,111 for a currency violation, but not imprisoned.

Wortham, his face impassive and serious, looked up from the floor to study the three judges' faces as the prosecutor asked them to sentence him to the full three years provided by Soviet law for simple theft. The prosecutor asked for a five-year concurrent sentence for changing dollars illegally. The maximum sentence on that charge is eight years.

Both Wortham, 25, and Gilmour, 24, pleaded guilty at the start of the trial Monday. Both testified that Wortham did the actual black market changing of about $75 in dollars and Finnish marks for rubles, that Gilmour gave part of the money to Wortham.

Three Soviet art experts testified today that the 18-inch statue which Wortham admitted taking from his Leningrad hotel room as a souvenir was a valuable national treasure, worth about 300 rubles ($333 at the official exchange rate), and should not be exported because of its importance as an art object.

Slayer of 2 Little Girls Is Sought

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Frank G. Clement posted a $5,000 reward today for the killer of two girls who were bludgeoned to death as they looked for oastaway dolls in a city dump.

The governor took the action in Nashville as local merchants started a fund to help the families of the girls, who were found dead Monday.

Clement said the reward to be paid by the state would be added to any local reward funds to be established and "will be paid to whomever supplies information resulting in the conviction of the person or persons responsible for this horrible crime."

Sheriff B. H. Sanders reported that he hoped to make an arrest in the case sometime tonight. He declined to elaborate.

The mud-caked bodies of Deborah Lyn Ray, 9, and her cousin, Phyllis Louise Selbers, 8, were found Monday — 18 hours after William Farrar Jr., 8, saw them playing at the refuse heap.

"Phyllis had fallen down and hurt her leg," the boy said. "I helped her up and told her she ought to go home."

W. E. (Bud) Hopton, director of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification, said the girls apparently were beaten with a blunt instrument.

The girls had been the object of a countywide search since they were left at the dump Sunday by Ricky Ray, Deborah's 12-year-old brother. Police quoted the boy as saying the girls wanted to look for "dolls and toys" in the dump, which is about 150 yards from Deborah's home.

Mrs. Powell Not Present For Hearing

Can Be Held In Contempt Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wife of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. failed to appear today at a congressional hearing to answer questions about her $20,500-a-year salary as his aide.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, chairman of the House Administration subcommittee checking on Powell's travel and payroll expenses, said the U.S. marshal's office has been asked to find Mrs. Powell.

The New York Democrat's wife is one of 17 Powell staff aides subpoenaed to testify at a closed-door hearing. She could be held in contempt of Congress if she fails to appear.

Powell has declined to attend the hearing, which began Monday and is due to end Wednesday. He has not been subpoenaed.

Judge Orders Bobby Baker To Be Tried

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge says Bobby Baker must stand trial Jan. 9 on charge of tax evasion, theft and conspiracy.

But U. S. Dist. Judge Oliver P. Gasch ruled Monday that some Baker conversations which were monitored by the FBI cannot be introduced in evidence.

Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, claimed the grand jury which indicted him was biased by extensive publicity and that his constitutional rights were violated by the FBI's electronic eavesdropping. He also asked for separate trials on the three categories of charges.

Gasch refused to dismiss the indictment, ruled against separate trials and said any recorded conversation Baker had with persons who cannot be identified will not be introduced.

The Baker case is one of the major ones in the background of the unresolved who-authored-what dispute between Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., former attorney general, and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Hoover says the Justice Department was aware of FBI eavesdropping practices all along. Kennedy says he didn't know about it.

The police and firefighters had sought an across-the-board increase of $600 a year, plus longevity differentials of up to $400 for 20 years service.

U.S. B52's Hit At DMZ Buildup

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — High-flying B52 bombers today carried on the U.S. campaign to smash a North Vietnamese buildup in the demilitarized zone, raining explosives on infiltrating troops in their sixth raid in three days.

U.S. headquarters said the Stratofortress hit troop concentrations in the southern half of the buffer zone a few miles north of the area where five B52 raids struck in the previous two days.

Over North Vietnam, other American bombers, flying through intense flak and challenging MIG interceptors, hit an oil dump 14½ miles north of Hanoi and other targets Monday, U.S. headquarters announced.

Ground fighting in South Vietnam continued on a small scale as the 48-hour truce for Christmas approached. The truce starts at 7 a.m. Saigon time Saturday.

The Viet Cong marked the sixth anniversary today of the founding of the National Liberation Front, their insurgent movement to take over rule of South Vietnam, but an anticipated outbreak of terrorism failed to materialize.

However, South Vietnamese military headquarters reported eight small Viet Cong probe attacks, ambushes and mortar shelling in widely scattered parts of the country.

As the bombing of North Vietnam stepped up Monday, seven flights of Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs pounded the Ha Gia petroleum, oil and lubricant dump 14½ miles north of Hanoi. They were the first raids in the area of the North Vietnamese capital since last Tuesday and Wednesday, when the Communists claimed U.S. bombs fell inside the city itself. The U.S. command denied the Red claims.

A U.S. spokesman said heavy smoke over the oil dump prevented an accurate damage assessment. The fuel installation is only a mile from the Phuc Yen airfield, the major airbase for Communist MIGs in North Vietnam. The MIG base has never been attacked by U.S. bombers, but the nearby oil dump was raided twice before this month.

On the noncombatant side, the annual Christmas invasion of American visitors started.

Canton Offer Is Accepted

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The seat of a mass resignation by about 280 of Canton's 340 police and firemen ended Monday when both departments agreed to accept a $500-a-year pay increase they rejected last week.

Acceptance of the offer was announced jointly by representatives of Local 249 of the International Association of Fire Fighters, AFL-CIO, and McKinley Lodge 2 of the Fraternal Order of Police.

The city's offer also includes pay of time and a half for any work over 40 hours.

With the increase, annual pay for patrolmen and firemen will be $6,800; for detectives, $7,400; for police sergeants and fire captains, $8,000; for police captains and assistant fire chiefs, $9,200; and for police and fire chiefs, $11,500.

The police and firefighters had sought an across-the-board increase of $600 a year, plus longevity differentials of up to $400 for 20 years service.

troupe of entertainers was operating on a shuttle schedule between Thailand and South Vietnam. Hope's group flew in from Thailand Monday, put on a show in the central highlands for U.S. 4th Infantry Division troops and then flew back to entertain American airmen in Thailand.

Hope was scheduled to return to South Vietnam once or twice more before Christmas.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, the Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, is scheduled to arrive Friday to conduct holiday services.

Abroad, Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia announced that his government has decided to increase its combat force in Vietnam. Authoritative sources in Canberra, the Australian capital, said the 4,500-man force would be increased to about 6,000 men.

Billy Graham Visits Troops

Says Americans Frustrated by War

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Millions of Americans view the Vietnam war "with frustrated impatience," Billy Graham said today as he began a week-long Christmas visit to U.S. forces in Vietnam.

The evangelist said he had no answers himself.

"I don't even pretend to know what to do about the conflict here," he told a news conference. "I might leave here more frustrated than when I came."

Graham arrived Monday for his first visit to the war and said one of the primary reasons for his trip was to gather information for use during his world travels.

Jokingly billing himself as the advance man for Francis Cardinal Spellman and comedian Bob Hope, who are also visiting Vietnam this Christmas, Graham said the high point of his visit will be a Christmas Eve prayer meeting, illuminated by 10,000 candles, at the base camp of the U. S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division at An Khe, in the central highlands.

The evangelist is scheduled to hold 10 meetings at various military bases and one on an aircraft carrier in the South China Sea. He will also visit hospitals, missionaries and churches and meet with some of the 300 American chaplains.

Illusion Caused Crash of Plane, Board Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board blamed today an optical illusion for the two-mile-high collision last December of two airliners with 112 persons aboard about 50 miles north of New York City. Four persons died in the accident.

The board said the probable cause of the collision was a misjudgment in altitude by the crew of the Eastern Air Lines shuttle because of an optical illusion created by the up-slope effect of cloud tops.

This, the board said, made it appear as if the plane were on a collision course, although both were at their proper altitudes — the Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 jet at 11,000 feet and the Eastern Air Lines Constellation at 10,000 feet.

The illusion prompted the crew of the Eastern shuttle to make an evasive maneuver — a sharp climb — while the crew of the jet made a right bank, the board said. The left wing of the jet collided with the right vertical fin and horizontal stabilizer of the propeller plane, the board said.

Red Response So Far to Bid Termed 'Nil'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has several efforts under way to probe the possibilities of extending a Christmas truce in Vietnam into a long-term cease-fire under agreed conditions, officials report.

But they add that reactions from Communist leaders so far are completely negative.

The possibility that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant can interest North Vietnam in cease-fire discussions is considered slight, in the light of the probing so far.

Officials declined to give any specifics, but said here had been no encouragement to hope for a break in the war of more than a few hours duration during the holiday season.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg asked Thant Monday to explore all possible ways of getting cease-fire talks going.

The move was designed in part, according to available information here, to dramatize declared U. S. readiness for easing of the war on a reciprocal basis.

It appears also to have been designed to forestall heavy new pressures on the United States to have a long pause this holiday season in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Nuclear Test Shock Wave Rocks Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A nuclear blast, perhaps the most powerful ever detonated in the United States, was touched off early today in an underground chamber northwest of here.

To observers atop the 24-story Mint Hotel, tallest building in Nevada, the shock wave 30 seconds later was felt as a rolling motion lasting about a minute.

Chandeliers swung about two inches.

A Las Vegas radio station reported receiving a call from a woman sitting in her home who said the motion was like that of a boat in water . . . a slow back-and-forth feeling, with no jolt.

The blast site was 105 miles distant.

Shock waves of other powerful underground blasts in past years also have been felt in this gambling center.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the device yielded energy of from 200,000 to 1 million tons of TNT, and was expected to rip a huge cavern under a mesa.

Warehouse Destroyed in 3-Alarm Fire

Schottenstein's Has $2 Million Furniture Loss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A furniture warehouse owned by Schottenstein Department Stores, was destroyed in an early morning fire Tuesday with damage estimates running in excess of $2 million. Three firemen were killed by smoke.

The three-alarm blaze on the city's southeast side sent rolling balls of flame erupting from the roof of the two-block long brick structure, visible for nearly 10 miles in the pre-dawn hours.

Nearly 200 firefighters and emergency workers were on the scene at one time. Walls of the two-story structure on four sides of the building, weakened by the intense heat, collapsed.

Jack Stone, auditor for Progressive Stores, Inc., who made the preliminary estimate of loss said the building housed the Angel Furniture Manufacturing Co. and was a warehouse for other affiliates of Schottenstein.

The fire broke out at 4:46 a.m. It destroyed most of the contents, firemen saying they were able to save only a few filing cabinets from a second-floor office by using a drill and torches to cut through outside ventilating ducts. More than 10 trucks parked by loading docks around the building were moved before the walls collapsed. Several railroad boxcars nearby were slightly damaged by falling bricks, but did not catch fire.

For several hours firemen feared a large propane gas tank near a wall of the building, might explode but firemen kept it intact by spraying it with water.

Truck drivers reporting for work discovered the fire. Its cause has not been determined. The three firemen killed by smoke were Robert Lee, Eddie G. Murry and William McCabe. The latter two were treated at Mercy Hospital for treatment.

More Time Is Allowed For Tax Lists

An extension for preparation of scheduled tax duplicates was granted Monday by the Pickaway County Commissioners.

The need for more time was created by special votes in two school districts this month. Due to the levy elections, the Budget Commission and the County Auditor were unable to determine tax rates which are required for preparation of tax duplicates.

An extension of 30 days for preparation was requested by Robert Wood, county treasurer. The new completion date will be Jan. 20.

In other business, the solons approved release of a $5,000 performance bond concerning erection of streets in Section No. 1 of the North Land Subdivision, Circleville Twp. The streets are to be released to the township trustees.

AN EXPLANATORY letter concerning the Ohio Water and Sewage Rotary Fund was received from the commission that has been designated to direct the program. According to the correspondence, the fund's objective is to aid in serving new and expanding industry with water and sewage and provide deferment in the assessment to agriculture lands affected by extension of lines for this purpose.

The commissioners were back in session today, with the bulk of their work being devoted to 1967 budgets as submitted by various departmental heads. The total county appropriations probably will be acted on the first of the year.

Mail Rates May Be Higher in '67

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien says Christmas mail is getting through without serious delay.

But it may cost more to mail that Christmas card next year, he hinted.

O'Brien said at a news conference that his department is considering a rate increase, but "no decision has been made."

He said the current year's postal deficit is 10 per cent of its $5.8 billion budget.

O'Brien said Christmas season mail this year will total nearly 9 billion pieces, up 8.9 per cent from last year.

He thanked users for helping the mails by doing such diverse things as adding ZIP codes to addresses and shoveling snow off walks, speeding the postman's rounds.

Red Response

Both Thant and Pope Paul VI have been pressing for extension of the Christmas truce beginning next Saturday into a lengthy period of quiet in the war and intense activity on the diplomatic front.

The truces so far agreed between the two sides are the Christmas halt of 48 hours next Saturday and Sunday and a New Year's pause the following weekend.

The allies also have suggested a suspension of combat Feb. 8-12, the Vietnamese lunar New Year, but State Department officials say they have not had a reply.

In addition to the U.N. channel which has been used before, the United States also has channels through Eastern European countries and the Soviet Union and through nonaligned countries, such as Egypt and Algeria. Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman was in Algeria recently.

TOKYO (AP)—The Viet Cong representative in Communist China rejected today the U.S. request for peace in Vietnam through the United Nations, a Japanese report from Peking said.

Kyodo news service's Peking-based correspondent said the rejection was contained in a speech delivered in the Chinese capital by Nguyen Minh Phuong, acting head of the permanent mission of the National Front for Liberation, the Viet Cong political organ.

Kyodo quoted Nguyen as saying "the South Vietnamese people will not accept any condition for peace offered by the United States and will not allow U.S. use of the United Nations for its interference in South Vietnam."

This statement is taken as reply to the U.S. request Monday handed to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for taking any steps necessary to arrange talks on a Vietnam cease-fire, the Japanese report said.

Nguyen spoke at a banquet held in Peking for celebration of the sixth anniversary of the founding of the front, it added.

Kyodo said Nguyen charged the United States is attempting to internationalize what he called "an aggressive war" in Vietnam by bringing it into the world body, which he contended is controlled by the United States.

Early Losses Weaken Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weakened early this afternoon, widening initial losses in the more active trading.

Prices were a shade higher at the opening but they soon turned mixed and then assumed a lower trend.

General Electric, which fell 35 in disappointment over an earnings forecast, dropped another 2 1/2 to 87 on an opening block of 7,600 shares, and continued to sell about a 2-point loss.

Big Three autos were up fractionally in early trading but they turned mixed in the afternoon. Chrysler said it plans to suspend assemblies for one-week periods at five of its plants.

Losses of fractions to 2 or more points outnumbered gainers.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.90 at 794.09.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .9 at 293.5 with industrials off 1.8, rails off .2 and utilities off .4.

A question Hays wants answered is whether Mrs. Powell is in violation of the law that requires congressional aides to work either in Washington or in the member's home district—in this case, Harlem.

Powell had been requested by letter to testify, but in a response from the Bahama Islands, where he has been spending most of the time since Congress adjourned, he told Hays he would appear only under certain conditions.

Hays turned down Powell's conditions.

The subcommittee is looking into the finances of Powell's congressional office and of the House Education and Labor Committee, which Powell chairs.

Talking with newsmen, Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, rejected complaints Powell made in a letter setting out his requirements for an appearance.

Hays, chairman of the investigating subcommittee, said it has not pried into Powell's private life or asked members of his staff personal questions.

"In New York Monday, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., who has said he will try to bar Powell from taking the oath for a new term when Congress reconvenes Jan. 10, assessed his chances of success as "excellent, where as three weeks ago they were somewhat in doubt."

Powell said in his letter to the subcommittee he would appear if the group agrees also to investigate travel vouchers of other committees "including your own" and travel by all committee chairmen, and meanwhile stop questioning employees of the Education and Labor Committee.

Powell sent the letter from his Bahamas vacation home, where he remains while a court order for his arrest is out in New York. He is under jail sentence for criminal contempt of court.

Utah Cowed By Murders

Two Teen-Agers Stabbed to Death

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Terror gripped the residents of Utah's capital city today following the murders of two teen-age service station attendants.

The nude, mutilated bodies of the youths, both 18, were found Sunday and Monday about 80 miles apart, in remote areas west and east of Salt Lake City. Each had been kidnapped from his service station, possibly tortured and then stabbed to death.

Law enforcement agencies doubted their night patrols.

"We have some maniacs on the loose," said Police Chief Dewey Phillips.

The Utah Association of Petroleum Retailers issued an emergency bulletin asking its members to close at nightfall or to keep at least two older men on duty during the dark hours.

Rewards totaling $2,000 for the arrest of the service station killer were offered by Salt Lake City's afternoon daily newspaper, the Deseret News, and Secretary of State Clyde Miller, acting governor.

Phillips said law officers in three counties were pooling information and had come up with "some good leads." It was known there was at least one suspect in the case.

The victims were Michael Holtz and Steven Shea, both of Salt Lake City. They worked at service stations on the outskirts of the city.

Officers said the crimes were similar to other unsolved cases in Utah and Colorado.

Probation Ordered In Weapons Case

A Columbus man has been placed on probation in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for carrying concealed weapons.

Ronald Lee Genhelme was indicted by the April term of grand jury for the offense. He originally pleaded innocent, but later changed the plea to guilty.

Warehouse Destroyed in 3-Alarm Fire

Schottenstein's Has $2 Million Furniture Loss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A furniture warehouse owned by Schottenstein Department Stores, was destroyed in an early morning fire Tuesday with damage estimates running in excess of $2 million. Three firemen were killed by smoke.

The three-alarm blaze on the city's southeast side sent rolling balls of flame erupting from the roof of the two-block long brick structure, visible for nearly 10 miles in the pre-dawn hours.

Nearly 200 firefighters and emergency workers were on the scene at one time. Walls of the two-story structure on four sides of the building, weakened by the intense heat, collapsed.

Jack Stone, auditor for Progressive Stores, Inc., who made the preliminary estimate of loss said the building housed the Angel Furniture Manufacturing Co. and was a warehouse for other affiliates of Schottenstein.

The fire broke out at 4:46 a.m. It destroyed most of the contents, firemen saying they were able to save only a few filing cabinets from a second-floor office by using a drill and torches to cut through outside ventilating ducts. More than 10 trucks parked by loading docks around the building were moved before the walls collapsed. Several railroad boxcars nearby were slightly damaged by falling bricks, but did not catch fire.

For several hours firemen feared a large propane gas tank near a wall of the building, might explode but firemen kept it intact by spraying it with water.

Truck drivers reporting for work discovered the fire. Its cause has not been determined. The three firemen killed by smoke were Robert Lee, Eddie G. Murry and William McCabe. The latter two were treated at the scene and Lee was taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment.

More Time Is Allowed For Tax Lists

An extension for preparation of scheduled tax duplicates was granted Monday by the Pickaway County Commissioners.

The need for more time was created by special votes in two school districts this month. Due to the levy elections, the Budget Commission and the County Auditor were unable to determine tax rates which are required for preparation of tax duplicates.

An extension of 30 days for preparation was requested by Robert Wood, county treasurer. The new completion date will be Jan. 20.

In other business, the solons approved release of a $5,000 performance bond concerning erection of streets in Section No. 1 of the North Land Subdivision, Circleville Twp. The streets are to be released to the township trustees.

AN EXPLANATORY letter concerning the Ohio Water and Sewage Rotary Fund was received from the commission that has been designated to direct the program. According to the correspondence, the fund's objective is to aid in serving new and expanding industry with water and sewage and to provide deferment in the assessment to agriculture lands affected by extension of lines for this purpose.

The commissioners were back in session today, with the bulk of their work being devoted to 1957 budgets as submitted by various departmental heads. The total county appropriations probably will be acted on the first of the year.

Mail Rates May Be Higher in '67

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien says Christmas mail is getting through without serious delay.

But it may cost more to mail that Christmas card next year, he hinted.

O'Brien said at a news conference that his department is considering a rate increase, but "no decision has been made."

He said the current year's postal deficit is 10 per cent of its $5.8 billion budget.

O'Brien said Christmas season mail this year will total nearly 9 billion pieces, up 8.9 per cent from last year.

He thanked users for helping the mails by doing such diverse things as adding ZIP codes to addresses and shoveling snow off walks, speeding the postman's rounds.

Red Response

Communists make a reciprocal move to scale down hostilities.

Both Thant and Pope Paul VI have been pressing for extension of the Christmas truce beginning next Saturday into a lengthy period of quiet in the war and intense activity on the diplomatic front.

The truces so far agreed between the two sides are the Christmas halt of 48 hours next Saturday and Sunday and a New Year's pause the following weekend.

The allies also have suggested a suspension of combat Feb. 8-12, the Vietnamese lunar New Year, but State Department officials say they have not had a reply.

In addition to the U.N. channel which has been used before, the United States also has channels through Eastern European countries and the Soviet Union and through nonaligned countries, such as Egypt and Algeria. Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman was in Algeria recently.

TOKYO (AP)—The Viet Cong representative in Communist China rejected today the U.S. request for peace in Vietnam through the United Nations, a Japanese report from Peking said.

Kyodo news service's Peking-based correspondent said the rejection was contained in a speech delivered in the Chinese capital by Nguyen Minh Phuong, acting head of the permanent mission of the National Front for Liberation, the Viet Cong political organ.

Kyodo quoted Nguyen as saying "the South Vietnamese people will not accept any condition for peace offered by the United States and will not allow U.S. use of the United Nations for its interference in South Vietnam."

This statement is taken as reply to the U.S. request Monday handed to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for taking any steps necessary to arrange talks on a Vietnam cease-fire, the Japanese report said.

Nguyen spoke at a banquet held in Peking for celebration of the sixth anniversary of the founding of the front, it added.

Kyodo said Nguyen charged the United States is attempting to internationalize what he called "an aggressive war" in Vietnam by bringing it into the world body, which he contended is controlled by the United States.

Early Losses Weaken Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weakened early this afternoon, widening initial losses in the more active trading.

Prices were a shade higher at the opening but they soon turned mixed and then assumed a lower trend.

General Electric, which fell 35 in disappointment over an earnings forecast, dropped another 2 1/2 to 87 on an opening block of 7,600 shares, and continued to sell about a 2-point loss.

Big Three autos were up fractionally in early trading but they turned mixed in the afternoon. Chrysler said it plans to suspend assemblies for one-week periods at five of its plants.

Losses of fractions to 2 or more points outnumbered gains.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.90 at 794.09.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .9 at 293.5 with industrials off 1.8, rails off .2 and utilities off .4.

To Hays saying she would not testify in public. Hays said the telegram came from Puerto Rico, where she has lived since her marriage to Powell seven years ago. At the time of the marriage, the former Yvette Marjorie Flores was a $6,000-a-year clerk in his office.

A question Hays wants answered is whether Mrs. Powell is in violation of the law that requires congressional aides to work either in Washington or in the member's home district—in this case, Harlem.

Powell had been requested by letter to testify, but in a response from the Bahamas Islands, where he has been spending most of the time since Congress adjourned, he told Hays he would appear only under certain conditions.

The subcommittee is looking into the finances of Powell's congressional office and of the House Education and Labor Committee, which Powell chairs.

Talking with newsmen, Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, rejected complaints Powell made in a letter setting out his requirements for an appearance.

Hays, chairman of the investigating subcommittee, said it has not tried into Powell's private life or asked members of his staff personal questions.

"In New York Monday, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., who has said he will try to bar Powell from taking the oath for a new term when Congress reconvenes Jan. 10, assessed his chances of success as "excellent, where as three weeks ago they were somewhat in doubt."

Powell said in his letter to the subcommittee he would appear if the group agrees also to investigate travel vouchers of other committee chairmen, and meanwhile stop questioning employees of the Education and Labor Committee.

Powell sent the letter from his Bahamas vacation home, where he remains while a court order for his arrest is out in New York. He is under jail sentence for criminal contempt of court.

Jack Ruby Wants History To Get His Story Straight

EDITOR'S NOTE — Gravelly ill of cancer, Jack Ruby lies in a guarded room in Parkland Hospital, where both President John F. Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald died before him. Herewith is an exclusive picture of Ruby's thoughts in his last days, in what may be his last statement for history.

By BERNARD GAVZER
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby in his dying days still insists there was no conspiracy involved in his killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Ruby, fully aware he is dying of cancer, wants to take any scientific test to prove for history there was no conspiracy. "Jack has told me a dozen times or more he prays to be given a final lie detector test so people will be convinced that there was no plan on his part or conspiracy of any kind to kill Oswald," said Ruby's brother, Earl, a Detroit businessman.

"It is his last wish," Earl Ruby and Elmer Gertz,

Chicago lawyer and member of the legal team which on Oct. 5 won a reversal from the death sentence for Ruby, described Ruby's plea to do anything to erase any doubt that he acted alone in shooting Oswald.

They had seen Ruby an hour earlier in Parkland Memorial Hospital where Ruby, under guard, is undergoing treatment. This is the same hospital where the mortally wounded president and Oswald were taken.

Gertz and Earl Ruby were asked whether Jack Ruby has any regrets about killing Oswald and thus making impossible a trial, perpetuating for all time the feeling that the full story of the assassination will never be known.

"He has regrets, but they are not so much about Oswald," said Gertz. "These are regrets about the havoc caused to his people."

Ruby, a Jew, is known to feel that his action reflected poorly upon the Jewish people.

"Jack reads the newspapers and magazines and watches television and is aware of the controversy about the Warren report and all the books and articles which are constructing incredible stories of a conspiracy in which he is claimed to have had a part," said Gertz.

"He says, 'How can they think I am hiding anything or protecting anyone else? There is nothing to hide; there was no one else.'"

As he lies gravely ill, he still maintains — according to Gertz and Earl Ruby — that "I never met or knew or saw Oswald until I saw him in jail, and I never knew Officer Tippit."

The Warren report said Dallas policeman J. D. Tippitt was slain by Oswald when Oswald fled to the Oak Cliffs sections of Dallas after assassinating Kennedy.

Gertz and Ruby said that Jack Ruby today acts like a man who wants to remain alive long enough to be convinced that others believe beyond question that he "acted out of overwhelming emotion and without malice and without premeditation."

They said Jack Ruby keeps referring to his movements the morning of Sunday, Nov. 24, 1963, when drawn by curiosity, to the police and courts building, and, "on impulse and the purest of chance, shot Lee Harvey Oswald."

"And he is bewildered that it is not plain to every one that it was a million-to-one chance that he would stumble into a situation in which it was even possible that Oswald could be shot," said Gertz.

Gertz and Earl Ruby said Jack Ruby has no recollection of the moment he shot Oswald.

"That is a complete blank in his mind," said Gertz. "When he goes over every detail of his movements, he comes to to that point and it is a blank for him. He does not deny he killed Oswald, but he has no memory of it.

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., said Monday he will introduce legislation forbidding broadcasts from announcing results of state or local elections while any polls in the area remain open.

Gertz said one of the ironies of the case was that police were absent from the street, allowing Ruby to commit a minor traffic offense to get to he Western Union office.

"If Jack hadn't made an illegal turn on Main Street to go into a parking lot in order to be closer to the Western Union office," Gertz said, he couldn't have been in the basement at the precise moment police were transferring Oswald.

"He was going east on Main and made the illegal turn rather than go around the block. He was going to the only Western Union office open that morning to send some money to an employee in need, and when he passed the ramp leading into the basement of the police and courts building, he saw a large number of newsmen there, and thought that Oswald had just been moved."

"He keeps going through these steps, telling how he went into the Western Union office and waited his turn to send the money order. The receipt for it was timed off at 11:17 a.m. then he walked at normal pace about 350 feet back to the ramp where he had seen all the people.

"He says he just started walking down the ramp."

Could Ruby have known Oswald was being transferred at that moment?

"No. He swears to this day he did not. And the fact is that no one knew," said Gertz.

The transfer had been announced for 10 a.m. but no one knew — not anyone in the police or the press — because Capt. J.W. Fritz was still questioning Oswald. To say that someone informed Ruby of the time of transfer suggests that there was complicity on the part of the police or other law enforcement people.

"But the fact is that no one knew nor did anyone have any set time to make the actual transfer except for the announced time of 10 a.m. As the record bears out, the change in transfer time occurred when Capt. Fritz decided to interrogate Oswald again. Only Capt. Fritz knew when he would be through with the examination."

"When you reconstruct this, taking the time Jack left the Western Union office, and the time Oswald was shot, which the Warren Commission said was 11:21 a.m., you can see that there was perhaps only a period of 30 seconds, perhaps even less, during which Oswald could be shot by Ruby.

The Circleville Herald, Tues. Dec. 20, 1966 3

"Only the most disturbed mentality could think or believe there was a plan engineered so that an assassin would have an unmet, unknown period of a few seconds in which to do his job. It would have to be a plan, also, in which there was no hope of escape."

Jack Ruby, himself, says — according to Gertz and Earl Ruby — "would I leave Sheba in the car if I planned to do such a thing?"

Sheba was his favorite dog. Many persons testifying about Jack Ruby's life said he treated his dogs as though they were his children. After he shot Oswald, his first concern was for Sheba. He asked police to attend to her. But he made no mention of money also in the car.

What about the pistol? "Jack always carried a gun, for he sometimes had large sums of money. That morning, he had $2,200 in cash," said Gertz. "It was a weapon registered in 1960 with the police. He had been arrested twice before for carrying an unregistered gun."

Doctors have not said how long they think Ruby can hang on to life.

Jack Ruby's condition has been diagnosed as cancer spreading in the lymph node system. Doctors say surgery and radiation are out of the question and they have resorted to chemical treatment for the condition.

Jack Ruby Wants History To Get His Story Straight

EDITOR'S NOTE — Gravelly ill of cancer, Jack Ruby lies in a guarded room in Parkland Hospital, where both President John F. Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald died before him. Herewith is an exclusive picture of Ruby's thoughts in his last days, in what may be his last statement for history.

By BERNARD GAVZER
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby in his dying days still insists there was no conspiracy involved in his killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Ruby, fully aware he is dying of cancer, wants to take any scientific test to prove for history there was no conspiracy.

"Jack has told me a dozen times or more he prays to be given a final lie detector test so people will be convinced that there was no plan on his part or conspiracy of any kind to kill Oswald," said Ruby's brother, Earl, a Detroit businessman.

"It is his last wish," Earl Ruby and Elmer Gertz,

Chicago lawyer and member of the legal team which on Oct. 5 won a reversal from the death sentence for Ruby, described Ruby's plea to do anything to erase any doubt that he acted alone in shooting Oswald.

They had seen Ruby an hour earlier in Parkland Memorial Hospital where Ruby, under guard, is undergoing treatment. This is the same hospital where the mortally wounded president and Oswald were taken.

Gertz and Earl Ruby were asked whether Jack Ruby has any regrets about killing Oswald and thus making impossible a trial, perpetuating for all time the feeling that the full story of the assassination will never be known.

Wilson Asininity

With much of the developed part of the world in what might be called an uneasy prosperity, international economics captures the imagination and the attention of national leaders at an escalating rate. Unfortunately, politicians being much the same the world over, economic statements frequently sound more like political pep talks.

It has been fashionable for many years, among those nations which accept United States aid, to speak long, often and forcefully about the threats of U. S. economic imperialism. Washington deserves much of the blame for this bravado on the part of our "friends" because of its refusal to put the best interests of the United States first in foreign policy decisions.

While many of the less consequential dictators of the world — men like Tito of Yugoslavia and Nasser of Egypt — unleash anti-American tirades periodically as a means of consolidating power at home, the danger in these repetitious broadsides against the hand that feeds them is that many people in the world have swallowed the propaganda that the U. S. is determined to dominate world trade and manufacturing centers.

It is certainly true that U. S. investments have spread jobs and economic sustenance throughout a wide sphere, but that is the magic of competitive private enterprise at work — not the U. S. government.

Thus, when leaders of the prominence of Britain's Harold Wilson publicly state, as the prime minister recently did, that one of the objects of his government's economic policies is to join other European countries in alliances to "prevent U. S. economic domination," they are indulging in a serious misstatement of the economic facts of life.

The facts are that many economic voids exist in the world which American business firms have found it profitable to fill. In so doing, they have created jobs, goods, services and economic growth for the host countries, as well as profits for themselves.

This is not the sort of economic behavior which deserves condemnation, and Washington should be the first to say so.

New Underworld of Politics

By John Chamberlain

The mystifying thing about present-day politics is that politics, per se, no longer counts for very much in this matter of preparing for elections. The probability is that the battle for 1968 is going to be determined in a strange twilight realm that nobody has yet dared to talk about. What the "New Left" is engaged in is a campaign to ruin the "Establishment," Lyndon Johnson, by innuendo of a sophisticated and often slyly foul nature. The New Left bringing mental guerilla tactics into political war.

How do you put your finger on it? There is no easily identifiable leader in the movement. Yet the attack takes many forms that interact to create a very palpable and identifiable atmosphere.

There is the button craze, to take it on its most innocent level. You've seen the buttons on student members of the New Left — "Let's Legalize Pot," "Psychedelicize Suburbia," "Chaste Makes Waste." These make an atmosphere, vaguely anarchistic, which creates the setting for more direct political jabs. Some of the cleaner political examples read "God Is Alive in the White House," or "LSD, Not LBJ," or "Kill for Peace," or "Draft Beer Not Students," or "Make Love Not War." All aimed, of course, at Lyndon Johnson and his conduct of U. S. foreign policy.

The button craze is like karate. It turns a strength of the American system — i.e., clever marketing in a free enterprise context — into a weakness. Some buttons are pure — or impure — sex with no political reference. But a majority of them have one ulterior motive, to drive a deep political wedge between the older generation and the draft age population of both voting and soon-to-be-voting age.

Less innocent than the button craze is the widespread whispering campaign that centers on the Warren Report. Lee Harvey Oswald was a self-confessed admirer of Fidel Castro, so if he was the sole agent of the Kennedy assassination the Leftist ignominy peddlers aren't in a position to make capital out of it. But if there were two or more murderers involved, the mischievous imagination can run free.

So the stage is set for the next sneak attack on President Johnson. What if Dallas was a Texas plot? And who were the Texans? Oh, no, you can't, you mustn't, say it. But the sub rosa jokers do say it. They pass it off as a "European" theory of the assassination. But the word gets around in Ivy League America.

And then, all of a sudden, it surfaces in a parody of Shakespeare's "Macbeth." An inordinately clever writer, Barbara Garson, has written a fantasy called "MacBird." There are witches in it — one is dressed as a beatnik, a second is a Negro in the garb of a Black Muslim, a third is an "old leftist" in a worker's cap. They are the ineffable chorus that greets MacBird in a hotel room at the Democratic convention, hailing "MacBird, vice-president thou art. All hail, MacBird, that shall be president." Whereupon MacBird, like Macbeth of Scotland, gulps and "seems to fear." He is absorbed in his thoughts as the "witches" go on to say: "MacBird shall be the mightiest of all, But Ken O'Dunc (get it — Kennedy O'Duncan) alone shall leave an heir" (Bob Ken O'Dunc, of course).

There are enough Shakespearean students left in America to know how Macbeth and Lady Macbeth grabbed off the Scottish crown. So the "thrust," to use a favorite Washington word, of "MacBird" is obvious. It could be, it could be — but you must only hint it.

"MacBird" is all over the place in printed form, and an off-Broadway production is mentioned. It is worse in its effect than anything ever attributed to Senator Joe McCarthy. But this time the New Left is welcoming is Elizabethan McCarthyism, Barbara Garson.

So the web of innuendo is being woven around LBJ. What can ordinary politicians do to combat it? Of what use are John Bailey and his Democratic National Committee in the soiled atmosphere of the present? You don't fight the new spiritual guerillas by the old direct means, LBJ needs someone who is help to a lot of curious things in order to beat the cats, and he has only twelve months or so in which to find an adviser who make sense in this new smear.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IT WAS THE GREAT Jewish humorist, Sholom Aleichem, who observed, "The only chance a poor man has for rejoicing is when he loses one of his pitiful possessions—then finds it again." He tells of one such character who recounted to a group of sympathizers how his wife and children were pursued by wolves over an icy lake, how the ice cracked, and sleigh and passengers sank without a trace. "Thanks to the Lord," concluded the narrator with a sigh, "there is one good feature to the story. It's a lie from beginning to end!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLKMAN, M.D.

A recent newspaper headline of a tragic death by fire screamed out the unnecessary heart-breaking death of a child. It was particularly distressing to me because I had followed this child through an attack of her acute appendicitis and later her recovery from a serious pneumonia.

Physicians concentrate their efforts on safeguarding children from polio, tetanus, diphtheria and a host of other diseases only to find that fire in a single few moments can undo all the advantages of medicine and surgery.

Fire is preventable. The hazards of fire and smoke can be reduced by thinking about them and planning for their possibilities.

For some strange reason people really believe that when they buy fire insurance they are insuring themselves against fire. There is no compensation for the life of a single person who has been sacrificed by carelessness and the destructive fire hazards that exist in almost every home.

There is great expense and limitless hours in restoring health after a severe burn. A tiny fraction of time can spare everyone the heartache of the calamity of fire.

A fire drill within the home must be made part of the health program. These formal drills need not be terrifying to the children and can be a health project that everyone shares in.

Each family must create its own program. When once the obvious fire hazards have been removed, each child must be taught and retaught how he must behave in the fire situation.

It is only then that he, with confidence, will know exactly what to do and what other children he is to be responsible for. The proper closing of doors, the escape exits, must be imprinted in the minds of everyone in the family. For on them can depend the safety of everyone.

A fire drill in the home is as important as a fire drill at school or in any other public building.

The Institute of Home Fire Safety, in addition to fire drills, suggests:

Christmas Gloom Widespread

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — "This the season to be jolly, but not everybody is."

In fact, says Dr. Harold Greenwald, a psychoanalyst, there are more depressed people around during this happy holiday season than he can remember.

"Usually people look forward to Christmas and put their feelings in abeyance for the duration, but this year they're not," he says.

He explains the psychological impact of Christmas this way: "Christmas heightens all feelings — plus or minus. Like alcohol. Their general anxiety increases for the lonely, the divorced, the people who can't be with someone they're interested in."

"It's particularly depressing for those who don't have anyone or for girls involved with married men, or for mothers with sons and wives with husbands away at war."

But why is this feeling more intense this year?

Greenwald theorizes that after World War II there was a general feeling of optimism that "we had thrown off the old and it was going to be a new world. As it becomes more and more obvious that this is not happening, people get more and more depressed. Increasingly, Christmas has become a stock-taking time."

This year, he says, people are depressed about the war and the economy. Many families are widely separated.

"There's increased emphasis on things," Greenwald says. "The Christmas advertising gets more and more magnificent. So many expensive gifts are offered you are made to feel like a Scrooge if you can't buy expensive gifts for everyone."

"I went shopping Saturday and people looked like lemmings rushing off to drown themselves in a sea of expensive items."

The first inkling of the current melancholia came to Greenwald when the number of people calling him for professional appointments increased sharply. Usually they drop off during the holidays, but this season his calls have tripled.

He queried the professional groups he teaches and discovered that many psychoanalysts were experiencing the same thing.

What are people calling about?

"Family crises are heightened at this time," he says. "One of the greatest complaints of our time is that we don't talk,

Meanwhile, while many other foods increase in retail costs, pretzels have remained at year-ago levels. Now, there's a new twist in the cost-of-living picture

A Londoner escaped 45 minutes after being sentenced to eight years for armed robbery. Ah!—now we have the "instant" ex-convict!

Blackouts, blizzards, smog, now—postcards F.E.P. — we know why New Yorkers call their town the Big City— just one big headache after another. Incidentally, whatever became of Gotham's recent slogan — about being the Fun City?

That lovely Christmas flower, the Foinsetta, is related to the castor oil plant, say horticulturists. Spoil sports!

A coincidence, says Zadok Dunkopf, is when the weather turns out to be exactly what the weatherman predicted it would be.

Since there are so many post-season games — and the number appears to increase every year—the man at the next desk thinks we should start spelling the name of that autumnal sport—football!

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a growing possibility that the planned merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads might collapse if further long postponements develop.

The odds still are greatly in favor of the consolidation, which has the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the effective date has been delayed by court cases.

Since early 1962, the plan has been managed to stay on the tracks despite more than 140 days of hearings, challenges by other railroads and opposition from the Justice Department.

Now, the chairman of the Pennsylvania and the chairman of the ICC foresee a collapse if delays continue indefinitely.

Privately, some railroad people are even more pessimistic.

In ICC hearings, Chairman Stuart Saunders of the Pensa conceded that merge planning between the two lines was "decelerating" because of the delays.

The 19,356-mile Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co. was to have been a reality on Oct. 1, 1966, which in itself represented a delay from a June 1 deadline. The ICC gave its approval last April 27.

On Sept. 21 a three-judge federal court delayed the plan to consider an appeal for additional hearings by several other rail lines. In the next month the same court rejected this appeal by a 2-to-1 vote.

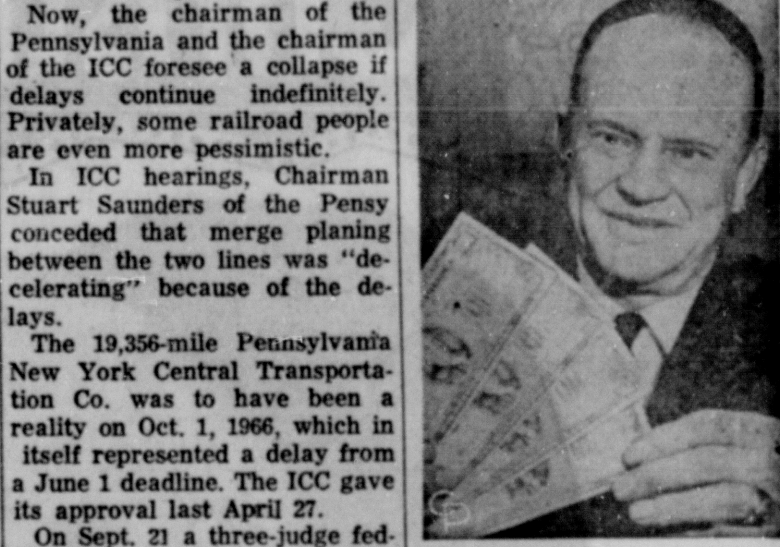

The Supreme Court then court ruling. A one-day hearing now is set for Jan. 9 in Washington, making a final decision unlikely until late February or early spring.

The court question now concerns a challenge by several line, including the Norfolk & Western. The Pensa and Central say the N&W is obstructionist in delaying the Pensa-Central merger. Saunders has even suggested that the N&W's motive is to delay additional competition from the merged line, that the N&W, itself, has an application before the ICC to merge with the Chesapeake & Ohio, a plan which Saunders has said he will oppose vigorously as "not in the public interest."

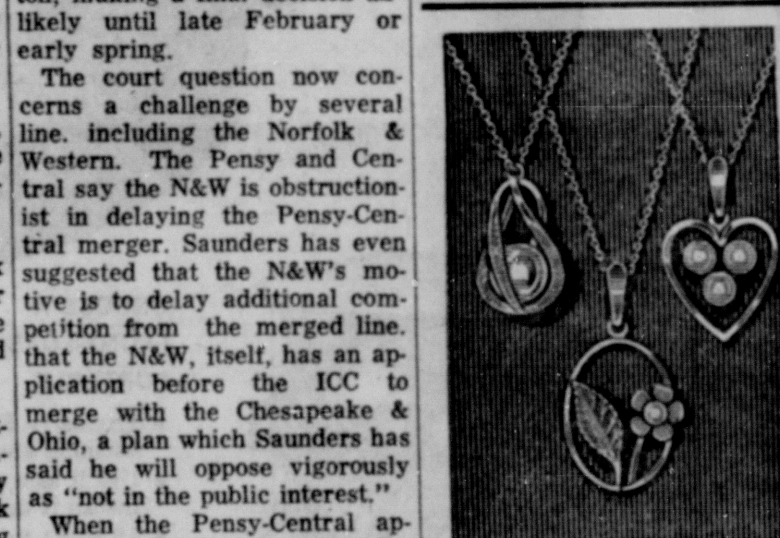

When the Pensa-Central application was filed in 1962, nobody expected the decision to drag out five years. That it has can, in a sense, be considered a tribute to the thoroughness of the ICC and the courts.

During this time, however, important decisions reportedly have been postponed, others have been kept in month-to-month suspension, and capital spending plans have been confused between the realities of present need and the uncertain hopes of tomorrow.

"It is simply impossible to operate these properties in suspense this way," Saunders said. John W. Bush, ICC chairman,

Wilson Asininity

With much of the developed part of the world in what might be called an uneasy prosperity, international economics captures the imagination and the attention of national leaders at an escalating rate. Unfortunately, politicians being much the same the world over, economic statements frequently sound more like political pep talks.

It has been fashionable for many years, among those nations which accept United States aid, to speak long, often and forcefully about the threats of U. S. economic imperialism. Washington deserves much of the blame for this bravado on the part of our "friends" because of its refusal to put the best interests of the United States first in foreign policy decisions.

While many of the less consequential dictators of the world — men like Tito of Yugoslavia and Nasser of Egypt — unleash anti-American tirades periodically as a means of consolidating power at home, the danger in these repetitious broadsides against the hand that feeds them is that many people in the world have swallowed the propaganda that the U. S. is determined to dominate world trade and manufacturing centers.

It is certainly true that U. S. investments have spread jobs and economic sustenance throughout a wide sphere, but that is the magic of competitive private enterprise at work — not the U. S. government.

Thus, when leaders of the prominence of Britain's Harold Wilson publicly state, as the prime minister recently did, that one of the objects of his government's economic policies is to join other European countries in alliances to "prevent U. S. economic domination," they are indulging in a serious misstatement of the economic facts of life.

The facts are that many economic voids exist in the world which American business firms have found it profitable to fill. In so doing, they have created jobs, goods, services and economic growth for the host countries, as well as profits for themselves.

This is not the sort of economic behavior which deserves condemnation, and Washington should be the first to say so.

New Underworld of Politics

By John Chamberlain

The mystifying thing about present-day politics is that politics, per se, no longer counts for very much in this matter of preparing for elections. The probability is that the battle for 1968 is going to be determined in a strange twilight realm that nobody has yet dared to talk about. What the "New Left" is engaged in is a campaign to ruin the "Establishment."

Lyndon Johnson, by innuendo of a sophisticated and often slyly foul nature. The New Left is bringing mental guerrilla tactics into political war.

How do you put your finger on it? There is no easily identifiable leader in the movement. Yet the attack takes many forms that interact to create a very palpable and identifiable atmosphere. There is the button craze, to take it on its most innocent level. You've seen the buttons on student members of the New Left — "Let's Legalize Pot," "Psychedelicize Suburbia," "Chaste Makes Waste." These make an atmosphere, vaguely anarchistic, which creates the setting for more direct political jabs. Some of the cleaner political examples read "God Is Alive in the White House," "LSD, Not LBJ," or "Kill for Peace," or "Draft Beer Not Students," or "Make Love Not War." All aimed, of course, at Lyndon Johnson and his conduct of U. S. foreign policy.

The button craze is like karate. It turns a strength of the American system — i.e., clever marketing in a free enterprise context — into a weakness. Some buttons are pure — or impure — sex with no political content. But a majority of them have one ulterior motive, to drive a deep political wedge between the older generation and the draft age population of both voting and soon-to-be-voting age.

Less innocent than the button craze is the widespread whispering campaign that centers on the Warren Report. Lee Harvey Oswald was a self-confessed admirer of Fidel Castro, so if he was the sole agent of the Kennedy assassination the Leftist ignominy peddlers aren't in a position to make capital out of it. But if there were two or more murderers involved, the mischievous imagination can run free.

So the stage is set for the next sneak attack on President Johnson. What if Dallas were a Texas plot? And who were the Texans? Oh, no, you can't, you mustn't, say it. But the sub rosa jokesters do say it. They pass it off as a "European" theory of the assassination. But the word gets around in Ivy League America.

And then, all of a sudden, it surfaces in a parody of Shakespeare's "Macbeth." An inordinately clever writer, Barbara Garson, has written a fantasy called "MacBird." There are witches in it — one is dressed as a beatnik, a second is a Negro in the garb of a Black Muslim, a third is an "old leftist" in a worker's cap. They are the ineffable chorus that greets MacBird in a hotel room at the Democratic convention, hailing "MacBird, vice-president thou art. All hail, MacBird, that shall be president." Whereupon MacBird, like Macbeth of Scotland, gulps and "seems to fear." He is absorbed in his thoughts as the "witches" go on to say: "MacBird shall be the mightiest of all, But Ken O'Dunc (get it — Kennedy O'Duncan) alone shall leave an heir" (Bob Ken O'Dunc, of course).

There are enough Shakespearean students left in America to know how Macbeth and Lady Macbeth grabbed off the Scottish crown. So the "thrust," to use a favorite Washington word, of "MacBird" is obvious. It could be, it could be — but you must only hint it.

"MacBird" is all over the place in printed form, and an off-Broadway production is mentioned. It is worse in its effect than anything ever attributed to Senator Joe McCarthy. But this time the New Left is welcoming it. Elizabethan McCarthy, Barbara Garson.

So the web of innuendo is being woven around LBJ. What can ordinary politicians do to combat it? Of what use are John Bailey and his Democratic National Committee in the soiled atmosphere of the present? You don't fight the new spiritual guerrillas by the old direct means. LBJ needs someone who is help to a lot of curious things in order to beat the cats, and he has only twelve months or so in which to find an adviser who make sense in this new smear.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IT WAS THE GREAT Jewish humorist, Sholom Aleichem, who observed, "The only chance a poor man has for rejoicing is when he loses one of his pitiful possessions—then finds it again." He tells of one such character who recounted to a group of sympathizers how his wife, and children were pursued by wolves over an icy lake, how the ice cracked, and sleigh and passengers sank without a trace. "Thanks to the Lord," concluded the narrator with a sigh, "there is one good feature to the story. It's a lie from beginning to end!"

A disapproving mother phoned her beatnik son at a new Greenwich Village walkup he had rented despite her strenuous objections. A voice replied, "He's taking a bath." "Sorry," apologized the mother. "I must have the wrong number."

Facts unearthed by sports expert Mac Davis: 1. A Paris resident once bagged a $20,000 prize by pushing a special perambulator 15,000 miles for 22 months over some of the toughest terrain in Europe. In the perambulator rode the pusher's young daughter—PLUS his wife!

2. In 1957, an English widow named McGrail wagered one shilling (less than 20 cents) in a British soccer pool and collected the biggest jackpot on record. For correctly predicting the outcome of eight important games one Sunday, all of which ended in ties—a billion-to-one chance—the flabbergasted Mrs. McGrail raked in the equivalent of $575,000—tax free!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLKMAN, M.D.

A recent newspaper headline of a tragic death by fire screamed out the unnecessary heart-breaking death of a child. It was particularly distressing to me because I had followed this child through an attack of her acute appendicitis and later her recovery from a serious pneumonia.

Physicians concentrate their efforts on safeguarding children from polio, tetanus, diphtheria and a host of other diseases only to find that fire in a single few moments can undo all the advantages of medicine and surgery.

Fire is preventable. The hazards of fire and smoke can be reduced by thinking about them and planning for their possibilities. For some strange reason people really believe that when they buy fire insurance they are insuring themselves against fire. There is no compensation for the life of a single person who has been sacrificed by carelessness and the destructive fire hazards that exist in almost every home.

There is great expense and limitless hours in restoring health after a severe burn. A tiny fraction of time can spare everyone the heartache of the calamity of fire.

A fire drill within the home must be made part of the health program. These formal drills need not be terrifying to the children and can be a health project that everyone shares in. Each family must create its own program. When once the obvious fire hazards have been removed, each child must be taught and retaught how he must behave in the fire situation.

It is only then that he, with confidence, will know exactly what to do and what other children he is to be responsible for. The proper closing of doors, the escape exits, must be imprinted in the minds of everyone in the family. For on them can depend the safety of everyone.

A fire drill in the home is as important as a fire drill at school or in any other public building. The Institute of Home Fire Safety, in addition to fire drills, suggests:

1. Matches must be kept out of the reach of children. Safety matches must be checked for the "afterglow" which can ignite paper.

2. All gasoline and inflammable fuels should be kept out of the house unless they are in absolutely safe and approved carrying cans.

3. All electrical appliances must have their wiring checked regularly. Broken wires may spark and set fire even though they seem to be "all right."

4. Don't overload the fuse box. New circuits should only be installed by licensed electricians. Do-it-yourself electricians may save some costs but they invite danger.

5. Smoking in bed is like playing "Russian Roulette" with the lives of everyone who lives in the smoker's house.

Christmas Gloom Widespread

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — "This the season to be jolly, but not everybody is."

In fact, says Dr. Harold Greenwald, a psychoanalyst, there are more depressed people around during this happy holiday season than he can remember.

"Usually people look forward to Christmas and put their feelings in abeyance for the duration, but this year they're not," he says.

He explains the psychological impact of Christmas this way:

"Christmas heightens all feelings — plus or minus. Like alcohol. Their general anxiety increases for the lonely, the divorced, the people who can't be with someone they're interested in."

"It's particularly depressing for those who don't have anyone or for girls involved with married men, or for mothers with sons and wives with husbands away at war."

But why is this feeling more intense this year?

Greenwald theorizes that after World War II there was a general feeling of optimism that "we had thrown off the old and it was going to be a new world. As it becomes more and more obvious that this is not happening, people get more and more depressed. Increasingly, Christmas has become a stock-taking time."

This year, he says, people are depressed about the war and the economy. Many families are widely separated.

"There's increased emphasis on things," Greenwald says. "The Christmas advertising gets more and more magnificent. So many expensive gifts are offered you are made to feel like a Scrooge if you can't buy expensive gifts for everyone."

"I went shopping Saturday and people looked like lemmings rushing off to drown themselves in a sea of expensive items." The first inkling of the current melancholia came to Greenwald when the number of people calling him for professional appointments increased sharply. Usually they drop off during the holidays, but this season his calls have tripled.

He queried the professional groups he teaches and discovered that many psychoanalysts were experiencing the same thing.

What are people calling about? "Family crises are heightened at this time," he says. "One of the greatest complaints of our time is that we don't talk,

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Dad May Lose Out in the End

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine has a 10-year-old son I'll call "Randy." Randy stole a $55 radio from an appliance store last summer. When his father discovered it, he made the boy take the radio back to the store and confess his guilt. Randy was then told that if he wanted the radio he could save his allowance until he had enough money to buy it.

Randy has been saving for nearly seven months, and by Christmas the radio will be his. The father plans to do the following: On Christmas morning he will take a hammer and smash the radio to pieces right before Randy's eyes. He says this will teach the boy never to steal again. I would appreciate your opinion of this plan.

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: To deliberately trick the boy into saving for the radio only to destroy it is both cruel and dishonest. This may teach Randy never to steal again, but it will also teach him that his father's word isn't worth anything.

DEAR ABBY: I am about 60 years old. A lady friend with whom I no longer speak, due to a falling out, has in the past treated me to several evenings of entertainment and expensive dinners. We were both in the company of her gentleman friend who paid for all.

I thanked him (and her) at the end of each evening, of course, but that was all I did to reciprocate. Would it be proper for me to send this man a few bottles of fine wine or some other gift in belated appreciation for his kindness? I feel I should.

NEW YORKER
DEAR NEW YORKER: Under the strained circumstances I would advise against it. His lady friend would almost certainly construe the gracious gesture as a subtle device to call her gentleman friend's attention to yourself.

DEAR ABBY: My father-in-law has stomach trouble, and is a very finicky eater which is why I seldom have them over for dinner. Last week I had a family get-together and therefore invited my in-laws. I assured my mother-in-law that I would have only the things I knew "Papa" could eat. I went to a lot of trouble and expense to make everyone happy.

Well, my mother-in-law shows up with a roaster and two kettles. She had prepared Papa's dinner and was bringing it to my house. I was completely crushed to think that after being in the family for 10 years and knowing what Papa could and could not eat, she doubted that I had sense enough to feed him. What do you think?

HURT
DEAR HURT: If your meal had disagreed with "Papa" even though it had been perfectly prepared, you'd have never heard the end of it. I think you were lucky.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BILL JOHNSON IN IOWA CITY: You're half right. I am indeed from Sioux City, Iowa. But I did not attend the University of Iowa. My alma mater is Morningside college.

Rotary To Hear Yule Message

Circleville Rotarians will hear a "Christmas Message" when they meet Thursday for a regular weekly luncheon session. The yuletide address will be presented by the Rev. Nobody Owns Monument When There's Bill To Pay

ROME (AP) — Now that there's going to be a costly repair bill to pay, it seems that nobody actually owns two of Rome's most picturesque churches. The controversy swirls around the famed twin churches of Santa Maria of the Miracles and Santa Maria in Monte Sato. They are almost identical domed churches which Bernini completed in the 17th century on opposite sides of the Corso facing the huge Piazza del Popolo. Modern construction in the area diverted an underground waterflow which wore away their foundations and threatened the picturesque churches with ruin. The problem of who will pay the bill has experts thumbing through the archives, but so far no one has been able to pin down exactly who owns the churches. The Roman Catholic Vicariate of Rome has informed government attorneys that it holds the properties in trust but can find no documents establishing ownership. The state, which made sweeping seizures of Church property last century when unification of Italy ended the papacy's temporal power, says it can find no document specifically taking over these two churches. The financially pressed Rome Government insists they don't belong to the city. But the landmark churches are considered artistic monuments, so it appears Rome's superintendent of monuments will have to pay the repair bill — at least until an owner can be found.

Seeks Identity of Skeleton

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Jefferson County sheriff called in state help Monday in an effort to identify a human skeleton found in a strip mine south of here Saturday by a troop of Boy Scouts. Sheriff Richard P. Wells said he thinks the skeleton is that of Daniel Delich who disappeared in the general area in April 1963. Delich, retired coal miner, was 76 at the time. The sheriff said the skeleton was found about 150 feet from the Fernwood - Bloomingdale County Road.

Rotary To Hear Yule Message

Circleville Rotarians will hear a "Christmas Message" when they meet Thursday for a regular weekly luncheon session. The yuletide address will be presented by the Rev. Marvin Paxton of St. John EUB Church, Stoutsville. William Bresler is in charge of the program. The meeting will be held at the L-K Restaurant.

Nobody Owns Monument When There's Bill To Pay

ROME (AP) — Now that there's going to be a costly repair bill to pay, it seems that nobody actually owns two of Rome's most picturesque churches. The controversy swirls around the famed twin churches of Santa Maria of the Miracles and Santa Maria in Monte Sato. They are almost identical domed churches which Bernini completed in the 17th century on opposite sides of the Corso facing the huge Piazza del Popolo. Modern construction in the area diverted an underground waterflow which wore away their foundations and threatened the picturesque churches with ruin. The problem of who will pay the bill has experts thumbing through the archives, but so far no one has been able to pin down exactly who owns the churches. The Roman Catholic Vicariate of Rome has informed government attorneys that it holds the properties in trust but can find no documents establishing ownership. The state, which made sweeping seizures of Church property last century when unification of Italy ended the papacy's temporal power, says it can find no document specifically taking over these two churches. The financially pressed Rome Government insists they don't belong to the city. But the landmark churches are considered artistic monuments, so it appears Rome's superintendent of monuments will have to pay the repair bill — at least until an owner can be found.

Seeks Identity of Skeleton

STUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Jefferson County sheriff called in state help Monday in an effort to identify a human skeleton found in a strip mine south of here Saturday by a troop of Boy Scouts. Sheriff Richard P. Wells said he thinks the skeleton is that of Daniel Delich who disappeared in the general area in April 1963. Delich, retired coal miner, was 76 at the time. The sheriff said the skeleton was found about 150 feet from the Fernwood - Bloomingdale County Road.

Misleading Bank Ads Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has clamped advertising standards on banks and savings and loan associations to bar what it called misleading claims on rates of interest paid depositors.

The Federal Reserve Board today described the standards as voluntary but it noted in a letter to state banks which are members of the system that deposit accounts are subject to the antifraud provisions of federal securities law.

Similar letters were sent to banks and savings and loan associations under their jurisdiction by the comptroller of the currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., and the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

The agencies said they regard the four standards they outlined as minimum principles to be followed in advertising for savings.

The standards are:

1. Interest and dividend rates should be stated in terms of annual rates of simple interest with the advertisement listing

Back to Normal

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — School bus service was expected to be back to normal today in the Austintown Township school system after a group of high school students helped repair damage done by vandals to 35 of 42 buses over the weekend.

the basis for compounding. Neither the total percentage return, if held to maturity, nor the average annual rate achieved through compounding should be given unless the simple annual rate is equally prominent.

2. No preference should be made to profit to the investor for use of his money over a specific period of time.

3. If the advertised rate is payable only on deposits of a time period or fixed amount, this should be stated in the ad.

4. No statement should be made implying that more than $15,000 in federal insurance is provided for each depositor.

In his letter to state banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System, Vice Chairman J. L. Robertson said intense competition for savings has prompted "a few institutions" to use advertising practices which could be detrimental to the public and the financial system."

January Draft in Ohio Will Affect 1,035 Men

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A January draft call for 1,035 men from which 673 actually will be inducted—has been announced by State Selective Service Headquarters.

The total announced Monday compares to a gross call of 854 this month with 598 drafted. The larger "gross" call is to assure filling of the lower "net" figure in draft board terminology.

In January of 1966, the gross call was more than four times bigger than next month's—4,240 from which 2,122 actually entered service.

The new call by counties:

Edward Kennedy Is Hoping for Compromise on Book

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he hopes for a compromise in the dispute over publication of the book about the assassination of his brother, President John F. Kennedy.

"I hope that some day the book will be published," the Massachusetts Democrat said in an interview Monday night over Boston television station WHDH on the program "Chanel 5 Reports."

Asked by the interviewer writer, despite the legal fight, there was a possibility of compromise, Kennedy replied: "I would hope so."

A spokesman for Look magazine, one of the two publishers named last Friday in a suit filed by Mrs. John F. Kennedy to block publication of the book, said today "informal communications" between the two opposing sides are still continuing in efforts to settle the case out of court. A hearing o Mrs. Kennedy's suit has been set for Dec. 27.

Cass Canfield, chairman of the executive committee of Harper & Row, the other publisher named in Mrs. Kennedy's suit, issued a statement Monday defending his firm's decision to publish the book, "The Death of a President," by author William Manchester.

Canfield said: "In the interest of historical accuracy and of the people's right to know the true facts of the awesome tragedy — the right to know which led the Kennedy family to request Mr. Manchester to write his book and us to publish it — we join with him in defending the book's right to live."

In reply, a spokesman for the Kennedy family, issued a statement saying: "No amount of rhetoric about 'historical accuracy' or the public's 'right to know' can alter the nature of this controversy — whether Mr. Manchester and the publishers broke the written agreement, from which breach enormous profits will apparently flow."

Canfield said that "understandably, the members of the Kennedy family were unwilling to read the manuscript themselves and hence they designated representatives to do this for them. Had they read it themselves, the present situation might have been avoided."

The Kennedy family spokesman said: "Although neither Sen. Robert F. Kennedy nor Mrs. Kennedy has read the Manchester manuscript in its entirety — authorized representatives having done so — both Manchester and the publishers knew that Mrs. Kennedy was well aware of the personal passages to which she objected."

"Indeed," the Kennedy family spokesman continued in his statement, "Mrs. Kennedy spoke directly to Manchester on at least one occasion, outlining her objections to those parts of the manuscript which she felt unnecessarily invaded her privacy and that of her children."

"And although he (Manchester) agreed to delete them from the published version, neither Manchester nor Harper & Row nor Look magazine has done so, or have they even, in the period of this dispute, permitted Mrs. Kennedy or her representatives access to the manuscript."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said from Sun Valley, Idaho, where he is on a winter skiing vacation, that he thought only four pages of the Manchester book were objectionable. He said he agreed material turned over to Manchester on the late president should be kept for posterity — but not for the general public right now.

Robert Kennedy also echoed the charges made in the statement issued by the Kennedy family spokesman in New York. He said the two publishers had forced him and the president's widow into the suit because they had refused to allow representatives of the Kennedy family to see the manuscript until Mrs. Kennedy filed her suit last Friday.

Edward Kennedy said that "there has never been any question on my part or Mrs. Kennedy's or Sen. Robert Kennedy's part" but the book would be published.

He said 10 hours of taped interviews that Mrs. Kennedy gave to Manchester in late 1963 revealed "the most intimate kinds of personal details."

Mrs. Kennedy, he said, allowed the tapings for "background and perspective." He said it was her "very earnest hope" that she would have a say in what would be used.

In her suit, Mrs. Kennedy charged breach of contract, invasion of privacy and infringement of her copyright by unauthorized use of her name in advertisements and promotion.

Look has repeatedly said it is still going ahead with its plans to publish a four-part, 80,000-word serialization of the book beginning with the issue due in newsstands Jan. 10.

Harper & Row plans to bring out the 300,000-word hard-cover book in April.

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Stealing Christmas trees doesn't pay—especially when you try a getaway in a police cruiser with policemen as chauffeurs.

A 16-year-old Dearborn youth found this out — the hard way Sunday night.

With pals parked in the rear of a store in a white car, police said the youth sneaked around to the front of a supermarket, grabbed a tree and scampered back.

But a white Dearborn police cruiser had pulled up in the rear and the sneak-thief's pals had vamoosed.

Panting, the 16-year-old ran up in the darkness and said, "Let's get out of here before the cops come." The cops, it turned out, were in the front seat.

The youth was delivered into custody of his parents.

U.S. Trouble Is Brewing In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Carlos Lacerda, Brazil's permanent political gadfly, says anti-American feeling is rising in Brazil and may explode next year.

"There is an anti-American movement developing in Brazil that cannot be called communist," Lacerda told newsmen, "and I believe some of it is justified."

The former governor of Guanabara State, covering Rio de Janeiro and its suburbs, has used the anti-Americanism he described as a weapon to attack the U.S.-backed government of President Humberto Castello Branco. Lacerda, who helped Castello Branco to power after the 1964 overthrow of President Joao Goulart, has turned against the retired army marshal.

He charges almost daily in fiery articles written for the daily newspaper Tribuna da Imprensa that Castello Branco is "delivering" Brazil to foreigners.

"I believe the Brazilian government is giving too much to some American groups," he says, without defining the groups. He names only a Brazilian capitalist and a Canadian-based power company — Brazilian Traction — when asked for examples.

He warns that President-elect Arthur da Costa Silva, due to assume power next March, faces trouble.

"In September or October of next year, if Costa Silva keeps to the same line, he will be in bad trouble," Lacerda asserts.

Cincinnati Pilot Injured in Crash

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — A Cincinnati pilot was listed in serious condition at Elkhart General Hospital Monday night after the plane he was flying crashed into a house.

Henry G. Howell, 47, only occupant of a twin-engine craft owned by Consolidated Metal Co., incurred shock and possible internal injuries.

Coming in from Cincinnati, he arrived at Elkhart Municipal Airport, his destination, during a blinding snowstorm.

The plane overshot the runway, struck a hangar beam, skidded across a county road and hit the home of William Hanley, an air service operator at the airport. No one in the house was hurt.

Arraignment Is Postponed

CINCINNATI (AP) — The arraignment of Postel Laskey Jr. on a murder charge has been postponed until Thursday.

The grand jury indicted the 29-year-old laborer and former taxicab driver Friday on a charge of first-degree murder and two robbery charges. He was scheduled to be arraigned Monday, but Common Pleas Judge William R. Matthews agreed to the postponement to give Laskey's attorneys more time to study the indictments.

Laskey was charged in the death of Barbara Bowman, 31, who was killed after she took a cab home from a cafe early on Aug. 14.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Billy and the dragon get the moon out of the cave. When Goko sees the moon in the sky he flies into a rage. He thrashes the other giants, gives them no food and orders them to guard the castle.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN GOKO'S BOOTS

In her prison in a turret of the moon sailing overhead before it set beyond the sea.

When Goko the giant came in she said, "Your time is near for the moon will shine full tonight."

Goko laughed. He had gotten rid of his rage by beating up all the other giants. Now he felt safe and strong.

"Your time is near," he retorted. "Tomorrow is Christmas Eve and the next day you will be my bride."

"You are not so powerful as you think," said the Queen, trying to hide her trembling. "Even the moon has escaped you."

"Ha!" scoffed the giant. "I shall capture it again when it sets tomorrow. And I shall capture Santa Claus when he flies tomorrow night. Then will be King of Fairyland and Santa Land and all the world will do my bidding."

"There is still tonight," said the Fairy Queen bravely.

The giant flew into a rage all over again. He picked up a chair and tore it apart with his hands. A mirror fell from the wall and Goko jumped up and down on it smashing it to bits. Then he stormed out shouting, "I'll show you! Wait until I am King!"

Meantime Billy had arrived at the castle and was searching for a way to enter. There were giants guarding the draw bridge and every door and window.

The boy hid in the bushes near the bridge that crossed the moat. Two giants were guarding the bridge. One of them had a bandaged head. The other was limping. Billy could hear them talking.

"I have never seen him in such a rage," groaned one. "We are lucky to be alive."

"We must do something to calm him," whispered the other. "Or he'll serve us no meal this day."

"We could clean his boots. That would please him!"

"I'll get them!" exclaimed the broken-headed giant.

He darted across the bridge and into the castle. He returned lugging Goko's enormous black boots.

"He was taking a nap," he gasped. "We'll have them back before he wakes."

They set to work washing the boots with water from the moat. When they finished they carried the boots up to the bridge. Then they went back to the moat to clean their hands. While they were gone Billy slid out of the bushes and climbed into one of the boots. It was so big he could curl up in the toe and never be seen.

The broken-headed giant came back and dragged the boots into the castle. He set them by Goko's bed and went back to guard the bridge.

Goko's snores sounded like dishes falling off the pantry shelf. Billy climbed out of the mammoth.

"I can slay him now!" he cried to himself. But as he pulled his sword from his belt the giant hulk stirred and groaned and opened one eye.

Billy dropped to the floor and rolled under the bed.

Goko stood up and yawned. He felt calm and rested. He hung three gold necklaces around his neck and fourteen

He leaned over to put on his boots. When he saw them bright and shiny and newly polished he was very pleased. He wondered if he hadn't been too harsh with the other giants. He decided he would let them have some supper after all.

He went out and ordered the giant guarding the hall to serve soup to everyone.

When Billy heard them moving off to the kitchen he rolled from under the bed and stole out behind them.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The wellspring of Walt Disney's unique talent long puzzled both admirers and critics.

Certainly nothing in his family background provided any hint of future greatness as creator of a new art form, the animated film, as well as superlative showman in a variety of other mediums. He came from humble beginnings.

His father was of Irish stock, born in Canada and raised in a big family on a Kansas farm.

Elias Disney dabbled in a variety of enterprises, usually with scant success. He was a carpenter-contractor in Chicago where Walt was born. Later the elder Disney went broke with a Missouri farm, then became a newspaper dealer in Kansas City, Mo.

Flora Call Disney, Walt's mother, came from simple German stock; she was a patient, understanding woman who tempered her husband's harshness toward their four sons. They also had a daughter.

Neither parent was artistic in nature, and Elias Disney displayed impatience with Walter's ambitions to study art.

"But I wanted to draw," he told me a few months ago as he reminisced about his youth. "The thing I wanted most was to be a political cartoonist. My father fancied himself as kind of a Socialist, and he subscribed to Socialist newspapers of the time. I studied their cartoons and tried to copy the style."

"After I got back from the war (in 1919), I tried to get a job cartooning for the Kansas City Star. The editor liked my samples, but the paper already had a political cartoonist."

Historians may ruminate on what might have happened if Disney had won employment as a political cartoonist. But he didn't. He found a job with an advertising agency, drawing plows and threshers for catalogues. He was dropped in the seasonal slump following Christmas.

Disney's next job started his career. He was hired by the Kansas City Film Ad Co. to draw advertising cartoons that played in movie houses. Young Walt found the oldtimers in the firm using the old method of cutting out paper figures, sticking pins in the joints and making them move.

"I thought there must have been a better way to make cartoons," he said later, "so I went to the public library and asked for all the books they had about cartooning. I found a better method, showed it to the boss and he installed it."

The restless urge to do things better marked the Disney style throughout his career. He was constantly tinkering with the

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — At this moment in history one of the most futile endeavors seems to be any attempt to start peace negotiations in Vietnam.

What Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, did Monday is just more of the same. He did it all before, and he did it this year. The whole thing is beginning to sound like a record played over.

Monday the United States through Goldberg asked U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to do whatever he thought necessary to bring about talks aimed at getting a cease-fire in Vietnam. It pledged full cooperation.

But only last Friday Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, after reporting to President Johnson at the White House, told newsmen he sees no sign of interest in peace by North Vietnam.

Late in 1965 Johnson sent a number of emissaries to foreign capitals as part of an American campaign to sound out the possibilities for a negotiated settlement of the war.

But the North Vietnamese Communists called all this a camouflage to expand the war.

The United States and the Viet Cong agreed to a Christmas truce — which Pope Paul VI had urged — and this country stopped the bombing of North Vietnam from Dec. 24, 1965 until Jan. 31, 1966.

Goldberg reported, when he returned Jan. 2, that some people and governments in Europe said the bombings stood in the way of a settlement. But, although they were stopped for 37 days, there was no settlement.

On Jan. 5 Goldberg at the United Nations circulated a letter appealing to U Thant and

U.N. members to employ "any appropriate measure" to "advance the cause of a peaceful settlement."

He said the United States was prepared for discussions or negotiations without prior conditions. But the months passed, the war went on, and there were neither negotiations nor a settlement nor a sign of either.

Now the Pope has appealed for peace again. This year the two sides in the war have agreed to 48-hour truces for Christmas and New Year's.

The Pope wants these truces extended. But U.S. spokesmen, remembering the allies got no benefit from the 37-day bombing pause last year, have said they can't pause that long again.

They said the last pause helped the enemy.

One of the dangers in writing about the Vietnamese war — at least, in being as negative as this story is about the prospects for peace negotiations — is that what is going on in North Vietnam is not fully known.

It can only be guessed at and a reasonable conclusion drawn from past and present performances. But the available evidence gives no indication of any weakening of will among the Communists, any change in spirit from last year or the year before, or any year in the past 20 years.

Bills Will Give Chiefs' Powerhouse Real Grid Test

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Kansas City Chiefs meet the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League championship game Jan. 1, the league's most potent running forces will clash with the league's most potent anti-running forces.

According to final AFL statistics released today, the Chiefs had the best rushing offense this season, gaining 162.4 yards a game, while the Bills had the stingiest defense against rushing, allowing only 75.1 yards a game.

The Chiefs were only fourth in pass offense but still managed to win the total offense title with an average of 365.3 yards a game. The Bills were third in that category with 337.6 a game.

Defensively, the Chiefs were second in total yardage, giving up 282.8 yards a game, and the Bills were third at 293.5. Oakland was the top team in that department, permitting 279.3 a contest. The Raiders also gave up the fewest yards in the air, 151.3 a game.

The New York Jets had the most potent pass offense, gaining 247.4 yards a game that way.

In the individual races, Jim Nance of Boston was the top rusher with a record 1,458 yards, Kansas City's Len Dawson topped the passers with 159 completions in 284 attempts for 2,527 yards and 26 touchdowns and Lance Alworth of San Diego

Pace To Accept Vandy Position

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Bill Pace, assistant coach at Arkansas, will fly to Nashville today to be named head football coach at Vanderbilt University. The Associated Press learned.

Vanderbilt also is expected to announce that alumnus Jess Neely, recently retired head football coach at Rice Institute, will become interim athletic director to help his alma mater rebuild its sagging football program.

Pace, 35, who is credited with helping mold Arkansas' potent offense, will succeed Jack Green who resigned three weeks ago after his fourth losing season at Vanderbilt.

Villanueva Plans Retirement in 1968

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Danny Villanueva, star kicker for the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, was quoted Monday as saying he planned to retire after the 1968 season.

Villanueva told a newsman he planned to run for political office in California, his home state.

Don Meredith Hospitalized

Cowboys' Pilot Suffers Cramps

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas Cowboys quarterback Don Meredith, sparkplug of the club's rise to the Eastern Division championship in the National Football League this year, was taken to a hospital early today with stomach cramps.

A club spokesman said sometime later that examination by the team physician showed no connection between the ailment and headaches which had troubled Meredith recently.

The team physician, Dr. Ronald F. Garvey, nevertheless ordered Meredith kept at St. Paul Hospital overnight for observation.

The Cowboys' ace passer and signal caller was forced to leave the field after a jarring tackle by Sam Huff of the Washington Redskins in a game here Dec. 11. He had suffered from headaches since.

Meredith sat out Sunday's game in New York because of severe headaches and consulted specialists while in the city.

The Cowboys said physicians had pronounced Meredith "fit and ready" to play in the biggest game of his life, the Cowboys' New Year's Day meeting with the Western Division champion Green Bay Packers for the NFL championship.

Three college basketball games were played on Ohio hardwood Monday night, exclusive of holiday tournaments, and one was decided with 46 seconds to play, one in the final two seconds, the other in overtime.

Things turned out happily for the home fans at Cincinnati, where the unbeaten Bearcats edged Colorado 66-64 on Ken Calloway's tip-in just before the buzzer, and at Springfield, where Jim Osborne's free throw gave Wittenberg a 67-65 nod over Baldwin-Wallace.

Stuebenville, host in the other squeaker, forced Marshall's Mid-American Conference crew into overtime before bowing 85-81.

Elsewhere, Ohio University won at Northern Illinois 84-76, Ohio Wesleyan dropped Wayne State at Detroit 78-64, Rio Grande fell at Troy (Ala.) 91-75, and Buckeye small colleges lost three of four holiday tournament outings.

Defiance clipped Transylvania 84-62 in a first-round game of the Quaker City invitational at New Philadelphia but all three Ohio teams in the Spring Arbor (Mich.) invitational lost to Michigan schools.

Aquinas bumped Ashland 63-57, Jackson Community College topped Malone 94-80 and host Spring Arbor outpointed Cedarville 97-87.

GW Coach Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — James V. Camp, head football coach at George Washington University since 1961, resigned the post Monday because of the possibility the school may discontinue the sport.

Elm varsity squads are both idle this week. Westfall will host Washington C.H. Friday. Area action finds Laurelville Wildcats participating in a pair of road games — at the Plains of Athens County Wednesday and at Union Furnace Thursday.

Although the Viking varsity is not playing Friday, a twin bill has been scheduled beginning 6:30 p.m. between the freshmen and reserve teams of Teays Valley and Bishop Wherle, a new parochial school in South Columbus.

THE new school has only freshmen and sophomore students this year and does not play varsity basketball.

The Teays Valley freshmen are undefeated and the game offers fans a chance to see the Vikings of the future. The reserve game will start about 8 p.m.

The leading scorer in Pickaway County is Viking center Rod Teets. He has poured 142 points through the hoop in eight games for a 17.8 average.

Teammates Vick Love and Jim Estep have been hitting at a 10.5 clip per game to give the Vikings a balanced attack on the front line.

Other leading scorers for Teays Valley include Ron Leatherwood with a 6.4 average, scoring a total of 51 markers, and Mike Stone with 56 for a 7-point average.

The Vikings have a 5-3 record for the season, losing by two points to Columbus North, by four points to West and taking a 68-47 thumping from Bishop Hartley.

HEADING Westfall's attack are Andy Hamman, a junior guard who has played in only four games, and Charlie Palmer, junior center.

Hamman has an 18-point average with a total of 72 points. Palmer has hit for 97 in seven games for a 13.8 per game rate. Other starters are Ed Cornwell with a 4.9 average, Tony Lightle with a 3.3 average and Delbert Haney with a 5-point average.

The two wins by Westfall include a 67-51 Scioto Valley Conference decision over Paint Valley. Although they lost to Teays Valley, the Mustangs held the Vikings to 42 points, their lowest total of the year.

Posting the highest average of all scorers in the three Pickaway County schools is Russ Merrin. The slender 6-4 senior center has accumulated 123 points in six games, an average of 20.5 per tilt.

His 32 points against Canal Winchester Saturday is the highest total for a single game scored by a Pickaway County cager this season.

Jim Moorehead, a 6-0 forward for the Braves, has provided consistent support for Merrin, averaging 13 points per game. He has never scored more than 14 nor less than 12 in his six tilts.

STEVE FOUCH has played in four games for Logan Elm and has scored 45 points. A starting guard, his average is 11.2.

Tom Smith, Fouch's running mate at guard, is averaging seven points per game with a total of 42 in six starts. Ken Palmer, the other starter, has notched 22 in four starts for a 5.5 average.

Dale Jenne and Gregg Fraunfeller, who see a lot of action in relief roles for the Braves, have been hitting the nets at a 4.3 and 4.7 average respectively.

With a 4-2 record for the season, Logan Elm's wins include one over Class AA school, Grandview.

Both losses have been by the narrowest of margins, 69-67, at Huntington and 64-62 to New Lexington St. Aloisius.

Next action for Logan Elm comes in the holiday tournament at Zane Trace. The Braves will face Laurelville while the host school plays Huntington in the first round of action.

IN AREA school action, Laurelville has played seven games winning three and losing four.

Leading scorer for the Wildcats is their diminutive guard, Steve Hettinger, who has 133 markers for an average of 19 per game. Jeff Whitcraft is averaging just over 10 points per tilt with a 71 total, while Mike Kneec has 79 for an 11 plus average. Those are the only three Wildcats averaging more than 10 points per game although Bob Bowers and Mike Chestnut have both proven themselves capable of scoring in double figures.

Zane Trace, playing nine games, has a 6-3 record for the season. One of the losses was to a powerful alumni squad in the first tilt of the season.

The other losses have come in Ross County League play, to Southeastern and Bishop Flaget.

Top scorer for Zane Trace is Bob Maxwell. Not including the first game in his average, he has come up with 173 markers in eight tilts against high school competition for a 21.6 average.

Barry Bennett has 92 for the same eight games. The Pioneers are deadlocked for second place in the RCL race along with Huntington and Bishop Flaget.

Chiefs Dominate AFL Elite Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City's Western Division champions dominated the voting for the American Football League All-Star team as expected, but the unexpected developed when Jon Morris of Boston stole the center spot on the elite squad from Jim Otto of Oakland.

While the Chiefs were grabbing nine spots on the 22-man squad selected for The Associated Press by three-man committees in each of the league cities, Morris outplayed Otto, who had been picked for the first-string unit every year dating back to the league's first season of operation in 1960.

Morris, a 6-foot-2, 240-pound product of Holy Cross in his third pro season, drew 15 of the 27 votes to 10 for Otto, a seven-year pro-veteran and former Miami, Fla. star.

Morris was joined on the first team by two Boston teammates, fullback Jim Nance, the only unanimous choice among the 22 players picked by the sports writers and sports casters in the AP poll, and Nick Buoniconti, the Patriots' peerless middle linebacker.

But Kansas City took the big share with five men on the offensive unit and four men on the defensive squad.

Len Dawson, the Chief's quarterback, missed by only one vote of being a unanimous choice and was joined on the offensive squad by teammates Fred Arbanas at tight end, Otis Taylor at split end, Jim Tyrer at tackle and Ed Bude at guard.

The Chiefs' defensive contingent consisted of end Jerry Mays, tackle Buck Buchanan, corner linebacker Bobby Bell and safety Johnny Robinson.

Joining Nance and Dawson in the All-Star backfield were

Lance Alworth, San Diego's standout flanker, and Clem Daniels, Oakland's versatile running back.

The offensive line was completed by the selection of Ron Mix of San Diego at tackle and Billy Shaw of Buffalo at guard. The Bills, while placing only one man on offense, matched Kansas City's total on the defensive team, grabbing spots with Roland McDoyle at end, Jim Dunaway at tackle, Mike Stratton at corner linebacker and Butch Byrd at corner back.

The other members of the defensive unit were Kent McCoughan of Oakland at corner back and Ken Graham of San Diego at safety.

Four teams did not place a man on the first-string unit, Denver, New York, Miami and Houston.

Springfield Hockey Team In Walkout

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League remained virtually on strike today in protest of what they call "constant harassment" by owner Eddie Shore, a hard-nosed old pro.

The entire 23-player squad walked out Monday after Shore rejected a meeting to discuss suspensions of defensemen Dale Rolfe, Bill White and Dan Amadio for alleged "indifferent play."

Later, veteran center Brian Kilrea, a spokesman for the players, was suspended formally by Shore for the same reason. "Speaking for the team, we don't want trouble," Kilrea said.

"We feel we should be given the chance to win games and perform as a unit without constant harassment from the management."

Shore suspended the Indians' top three defensemen in the wake of a 5-4 loss to Quebec Saturday night. The defeat was Springfield's fourth straight and left the team with a 4-13-2 record since they opened the season with five victories and a tie.

Morris was joined on the first team by two Boston teammates, fullback Jim Nance, the only unanimous choice among the 22 players picked by the sports writers and sports casters in the AP poll, and Nick Buoniconti, the Patriots' peerless middle linebacker.

But Kansas City took the big share with five men on the offensive unit and four men on the defensive squad.

Len Dawson, the Chief's quarterback, missed by only one vote of being a unanimous choice and was joined on the offensive squad by teammates Fred Arbanas at tight end, Otis Taylor at split end, Jim Tyrer at tackle and Ed Bude at guard.

The Chiefs' defensive contingent consisted of end Jerry Mays, tackle Buck Buchanan, corner linebacker Bobby Bell and safety Johnny Robinson.

Joining Nance and Dawson in the All-Star backfield were

Lance Alworth, San Diego's standout flanker, and Clem Daniels, Oakland's versatile running back.

The offensive line was completed by the selection of Ron Mix of San Diego at tackle and Billy Shaw of Buffalo at guard.

The Bills, while placing only one man on offense, matched Kansas City's total on the defensive team, grabbing spots with Roland McDole at end, Jim Dunaway at tackle, Mike Stratton at corner linebacker and Butch Byrd at corner back.

The other members of the defensive unit were Kent McCloughan of Oakland at corner back and Ken Graham of San Diego at safety.

Four teams did not place a man on the first-string unit, Denver, New York, Miami and Houston.

His Cincinnati teammates call Ken Calloway Cab... for obvious reasons.
Opposing coaches call third-ranked North Carolina terrific, and the reasons are just as obvious.
Calloway was the hero Monday night as the seventh-ranked Bearcats squeezed past Colorado 66-64 at Cincinnati. Meanwhile, North Carolina continued to punish visitors from the North, walloping Columbia 98-66 in the opening round of the Tampa Invitational Basketball Tournament at Tampa, Fla.
It was Cincinnati's sixth straight victory and the fourth the Bearcats have won by two points or less. Calloway grabbed a rebound with two seconds left and sank the winning basket. It came after John Howard, who led the winners with 24 points, missed a free throw.

Dean Smith, North Carolina's coach, hasn't had that close a shave yet. His Tar Heels rolled over Columbia much in the same manner as they had destroyed New York University last Saturday.
"This team could beat UCLA," said NYU Coach Lou Rossini after absorbing the Tar Heels' 95-58 licking. "They have everything, speed, poise, ball control, defense, and shooting."
Florida State is North Carolina's next test in the Tampa Tourney finals. The Seminoles gained the championship round with an 83-67 triumph over The Citadel. Jeff Hogan led FSU with 25 points.

Fourth-ranked Texas Western used a big rebound advantage to ease past Wichita 77-60 at El Paso. David Lattin's 18 points led the defending NCAA champion Miners, who pulled down 50 rebounds to only 30 for the Shockers.
New Mexico, rated No. 6, got 26 points from Mel Daniels and 16 from Ben Monroe, who hit on eight of nine from the field, in an 84-64 victory over visiting North Dakota.
St. John's walloped ninth-ranked Kansas 68-44 with Sonny Dove pouring in 27 points and grabbing 16 rebounds in a virtual one-man show for the unbeaten Redmen.
Vanderbilt, No. 10, ruined Florida's unbeaten record, whipping the Gators, 77-69 at Nashville, Tenn. Tom Hagan scored 20 points and Bob Warren 18 for the Commodores, now 7-1. Florida is 4-1.
All 10 starters reached double figures as Northwestern outlasted Tulane 121-116 in a wild one at New Orleans.
Ron Guziak scored 22 points, leading Duquesne to a 79-72 victory over San Francisco State. Georgia Tech got 23 points from Pres Judy and downed Brown 83-75.

South Carolina routed Elon 102-78, Georgetown ended Rutgers 10-game winning streak, 99-87, Illinois ripped Wisconsin 87-74 in the Big Ten, Wyoming downed Texas Tech 67-57 and Providence nipped Santa Clara 84-82.
Elsewhere, Mississippi State nipped Alabama 63-59, Mississippi defeated Louisiana State 74-67 and San Diego State edged Tulsa 59-57.

Kentucky and Brigham Young, both two-time losers last week, tumbled from college basketball's Top Ten this week.
UCLA, of course, remained in the No. 1 spot, polling all 35 first place votes in the balloting announced today.
Kentucky, which won 27 of 29 games last season in finishing second to Texas Western in the NCAA tournament, suffered an almost unheard of fate in dropping two games on its home floor. North Carolina beat the Wildcats 64-55 and Florida beat them 78-75.
Brigham Young lost to Seattle 85-83 in overtime and to Oregon State 92-76.
Texas Western, No. 2 last week, lost one game, 71-62 to New Mexico, and slid to fourth. New Mexico, in turn, lost to New Mexico State 62-61 in overtime and slipped from fifth to sixth.
Louisville moved from third to second, North Carolina sixth to third, Michigan State eighth to fifth, Cincinnati 10th to seventh, Houston ninth to eighth and Kansas and Vanderbilt took vacated spots in the Top Ten or ninth and 10th, respectively.
Kansas climbed into the select circle despite losing to Texas Western while Vanderbilt overcame a loss to Duke by winning its own invitational tournament.
The No. 1 Bruins were idle last week but resumed play this week, playing at home against Colorado State U. Thursday and Notre Dame Friday.
The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points on a 10-9 etc. basis:

1. UCLA (35)	350
2. Louisville	288
3. North Carolina	236
4. Texas Western	208
5. Michigan State	167
6. New Mexico	153
7. Cincinnati	127
8. Houston	96
9. Kansas	49
10. Vanderbilt	27

NEW YORK (AP) — Only a devoted fan of the assorted televised beauty pageants could truly appreciate the new daytime program launched Monday by ABC. It is called "Dream Girl of '67."
In one half-hour, the producers somehow managed to squeeze in most of the worst aspects of the pageants and the clichés of daytime guessing games.
Inspired by the big Nielsen ratings built by the evening each day will present four comely young women, to contend for "the coveted title of dream girl of 1967." This, should the show last that long, will be awarded at some date in the future.
The young women were paraded self-consciously before three male judges — as usual, actors with movies to plug — and asked questions such as "What would you take with you to live on the moon?" and "What are your beauty secrets?"

The answers were alleged to reveal the contenders' "beauty, intelligence, poise — everything!" After that, the girls had to mince around wearing high-style pajamas in a sort of fashion show. The judges voted one girl in, and she walked proudly down a runway — without the usual tears but every inch a contender for the dream girl crown.
It is a boring show.
CBS' musical version of "Jack and the Beanstalk" was production taped over a year ago for New York broadcast and repeated nationally Monday night. A bland little show specifically designed for tender eyes and ears, there was nothing to make bad dreams.
NBC led the three television networks in the average size of its audiences, according to the national Nielsen report released Monday. During the two-week period ending Dec. 4, NBC had a rating of 29.2, followed by CBS with 18.9 and ABC, 16.9.
NBC's "Bonanza" remained the most popular program, followed by CBS' Red Skelton and Lucy shows. Other programs in the top 10 were CBS' Andy Griffith Show, NBC's Jack Benny special and its Saturday Night Movie, CBS' Jackie Gleason Show Green Acres and Ed Sullivan Show and NBC's Walt Disney Hour.

Harmonious Note Marks U.N. Close

Outer Space Use Treaty Approval Highlights End

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly neared the end of its 21st session today on a harmonious note highlighted by unanimous approval of a treaty outlawing war in outer space.

The United States and the Soviet Union paved the way for approval of the space treaty by agreeing last week to the terms of the pact, which provides the first legal code governing exploration of space. President Johnson hailed it as the most important arms-control agreement since the limited nuclear test-ban treaty of 1963.

Secretary-General U Thant congratulated the assembly on approving the pact which will become law after it is ratified by five governments, including those of the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain.

The Vietnam war, which has cast its shadow over the session, again became the center of attention in the session's final hours when the United States made a new overture to Thant to take a hand in getting peace negotiations going.

U.S. Ambassador Goldberg asked Thant to do whatever he deemed necessary to launch talks aimed at achieving a cease-fire in Vietnam. The approach to Thant was made five days before the start of a 48-hour Christmas truce in Vietnam.

The threat of an 11th-hour snag on peacekeeping procedures was averted when the General Assembly voted to shelve the controversial question until its special session set for April to consider the situation in South-West Africa.

Canada had submitted a resolution asking U.N. members to state what forces they could contribute if requested to join a U.N. peacekeeping operation.

Victim of Fumes Is Recovering

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — One man is dead and another evidently recovering after being overcome by carbon monoxide in a car parked along a southern Greene County road. Found in the car Monday were Richard Reed Jr., 41, of Rt. 2, Xenia, dead at least four hours when discovered, and a dazed Richard Colaw, about 60, of Port Williams in Clinton County, a short distance from the scene.

"DIFFICULT DAYS AHEAD"—Greeting a group of wounded Vietnamese war veterans visiting the White House in Washington, President Johnson solemnly tells them it would be "some time" before there is peace, and that the U.S. can expect "difficult days ahead."

It Was Bound To Happen: Santa Gets Psychoanalyzed

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — "Santa Claus is an American figure" and the nature of the jolly old gentleman's role as the bearer of Christmas gifts could stand more research, a university sociologist said today.

Santa Claus is "not closely related to the old Dutch St. Nicholas, and is somewhat unique," said Warren O. Hagstrom, associate professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin.

"He and the Three Wise Men are in competition," Hagstrom added. "It's worth looking into — the role of Santa Claus in gift giving."

"Why should parents give presents to their kids in the name of Santa Claus? Gift giving doesn't seem to have much of a role anymore, as it did in ancient families. Now there is a subtle reciprocity expected."

"A gift becomes not subtle at all, but a bribe. The thing with Santa Claus is that a parent's gift is a bribe, but a gift via Santa is morally uncontaminated."

Hagstrom discussed Santa in an interview about his article — entitled "What is the Meaning of Santa Claus?" — in the latest issue of the American Sociologist, a professional quarterly published by the American Sociological Association.

Santa Claus also appears to be puzzling numerous parents, it says, adding: "Casual observation suggests considerable variation in the degree to which Santa is used as a child control device. Parents tell children that rewards from Santa are contingent upon good behavior. We need information on the social determinants of these aspects of the behavior of Santa Claus."

Hagstrom did not explain how research into Santa's behavior should be conducted.

They Got Number Daddy Will Need For Santa's Bill

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The telephone in a finance company's office rang and a child's voice asked for Santa Claus.

In the next few hours, 75 to 100 children telephoned their Christmas requests to Jim McDonald, the company president.

"We just had to lay business aside," said McDonald. "The business of Santa Claus comes first."

He said he didn't know what mixup in phone numbers brought him the calls.

Auto Registrar's Office Robbed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Authorities are afraid a lot of phony drivers' licenses may get into circulation as the aftermath of Monday's burglary of a deputy auto registrar office.

Several hundred forms for operators' licenses, temporary licenses, chauffeur permits and auto tag transfer were stolen, presumably to be used for false identification.

State Sen. King To Continue In Dual Posts

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo, elected Monday as Senate Democratic Leader for his fifth consecutive term, said he would also continue as president of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

There were reports that King would step down from one post because of ill health. King said his health now is good.

King, 53, will command a dwindling number of Democratic senators. During the last biennial session of the General Assembly, the two parties had 16 senators apiece. But this time there are 23 Republicans to 10 Democrats, the smallest number since King first was elected to the Senate in 1953.

"We're not going to be able to put through any affirmative program," King said at the caucus attended by eight of the 10 Democratic senators-elect.

King added that many Republican campaign promises were for programs also advocated by Democrats. "There's no excuse now for not doing what they said they would. They've got the votes."

How the Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

A complex low pressure system in the Great Lakes region was responsible for a variety of weather around the state early Tuesday morning.

Freezing rain and snow fell in the northern counties while through central Ohio showers and drizzle were the main weather features.

In the southern counties partly cloudy to cloudy skies held forth and temperatures were reported in the mid 40s.

Overnight lows in the northern areas were in the lower 30s and shortly before sunrise the range was from 46 at Chesapeake to 33 at Toledo and Youngstown.

Earlier Tuesday morning Cleveland reported a thunderstorm and Toledo reported 4 inches of snow on the ground. Cleveland had 2 inches and Akron and Youngstown had 1 inch.

The low pressure will hold cloudiness over the state through Wednesday and daytime highs Wednesday will be slightly over the normals and for the most part range from the upper 30s in the northern cities to the lower 50s in extreme southern Ohio.

CENTRAL OHIO — Cloudy and mild tonight and Wednesday. Low tonight: lower 30s. High Wednesday: middle 40s.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday. Scattered showers and mild Wednesday. Cool tonight. Low: 25-32.

SOUTHEAST OHIO

Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday. High Wednesday: 40s. Low tonight: lower 30s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Mostly cloudy tonight. Low in the 30s. Wednesday rather cloudy with little temperature change.

Harmonious Note Marks U.N. Close

Outer Space Use Treaty Approval Highlights End

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly neared the end of its 21st session today on a harmonious note highlighted by unanimous approval of a treaty outlawing war in outer space.

The United States and the Soviet Union paved the way for approval of the space treaty by agreeing last week to the terms of the pact, which provides the first legal code governing exploration of space. President Johnson hailed it as the most important arms-control agreement since the limited nuclear test-ban treaty of 1963.

Secretary-General U Thant congratulated the assembly on approving the pact which will become law after it is ratified by five governments, including those of the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain.

The Vietnam war, which has cast its shadow over the session, again became the center of attention in the session's final hours when the United States made a new overture to Thant to take a hand in getting peace negotiations going.

U.S. Ambassador Goldberg asked Thant to do whatever he deemed necessary to launch talks aimed at achieving a cease-fire in Vietnam. The approach to Thant was made five days before the start of a 48-hour Christmas truce in Vietnam.

The threat of an 11th-hour snag on peacekeeping procedures was averted when the General Assembly voted to shelve the controversial question until its special session set for April to consider the situation in South-West Africa.

Canada had submitted a resolution asking U.N. members to state what forces they could contribute if requested to join a U.N. peacekeeping operation.

William J. Nicholson, who was under the whisks and Santa Claus suit was charged Monday with stealing a $1.50 bottle of men's cologne and a 37-cent bottle of corn and callous remover.

The store will remain without a Santa Claus for the rest of the season, according to Stanley Levin, president.

Mother Seeks Word Of Daughter's Fate
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A mother has begged for some word on the fate of her daughter who vanished with another girl 10 weeks ago from a skin-diving party.

Mrs. Herman Nater wrote an open letter "to the person or persons responsible" for the disappearance of her daughter, Pamela, 20, and Nancy Lechner, 21. She said there is a $2,500 reward for information that helps locate the girls, dead or alive, and $10,000 for their return alive.

Victim of Fumes Is Recovering
XENIA, Ohio (AP) — One man is dead and another evidently recovering after being overcome by carbon monoxide in a car parked along a southern Greene County road.

Found in the car Monday were Richard Reed Jr., 41, of Rt. 2, Xenia, dead at least four hours when discovered, and a dazed Richard Colaw, about 60, of Port Williams in Clinton County, a short distance from the scene.

"DIFFICULT DAYS AHEAD"—Greeting a group of wounded Vietnamese war veterans visiting the White House in Washington, President Johnson solemnly tells them it would be "some time" before there is peace, and that the U.S. can expect "difficult days ahead."

It Was Bound To Happen: Santa Gets Psychoanalyzed

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — "Santa Claus is an American figure" and the nature of the jolly old gentleman's role as the bearer of Christmas gifts could stand more research, a university sociologist said today.

Santa Claus is "not closely related to the old Dutch St. Nicholas, and is somewhat unique," said Warren O. Hagstrom, associate professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin.

"He and the Three Wise Men are in competition," Hagstrom added. "It's worth looking into — the role of Santa Claus in gift giving."

"Why should parents give presents to their kids in the name of Santa Claus? Gift giving doesn't seem to have much of a role anymore, as it did in ancient families. Now there is a subtle reciprocity expected."

"A gift becomes not subtle at all, but a bribe. The thing with Santa Claus is that a parent's gift is a bribe, but a gift via Santa is morally uncontaminated."

Hagstrom discussed Santa in an interview about his article — entitled "What is the Meaning of Santa Claus?" — in the latest issue of the American Sociologist, a professional quarterly published by the American Sociological Association.

Santa Claus also appears to be puzzling numerous parents, it says, adding: "Casual observation suggests considerable variation in the degree to which Santa is used as a child control device. Parents tell children that rewards from Santa are contingent upon good behavior. We need information on the social determinants of these aspects of the behavior of Santa Claus."

Hagstrom did not explain how research into Santa's behavior should be conducted.

They Got Number Daddy Will Need For Santa's Bill

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The telephone in a finance company's office rang and a child's voice asked for Santa Claus.

In the next few hours, 75 to 100 children telephoned their Christmas requests to Jim McDonald, the company president.

"We just had to lay business aside," said McDonald. "The business of Santa Claus comes first."

He said he didn't know what mixup in phone numbers brought him the calls.

Auto Registrar's Office Robbed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Authorities are afraid a lot of phony drivers' licenses may get into circulation as the aftermath of Monday's burglary of a deputy auto registrar office.

Several hundred forms for operators' licenses, temporary licenses, chauffeur permits and auto tag transfer were stolen, presumably to be used for false identification.

State Sen. King To Continue In Dual Posts

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo, elected Monday as Senate Democratic Leader for his fifth consecutive term, said he would also continue as president of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

There were reports that King would step down from one post because of ill health. King said his health now is good.

King, 53, will command a dwindling number of Democratic senators. During the last biennial session of the General Assembly, the two parties had 16 senators apiece. But this time there are 23 Republicans to 10 Democrats, the smallest number since King first was elected to the Senate in 1953.

"We're not going to be able to put through any affirmative program," King said at the caucus attended by eight of the 10 Democratic senators-elect.

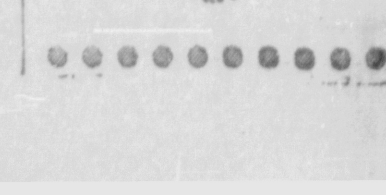

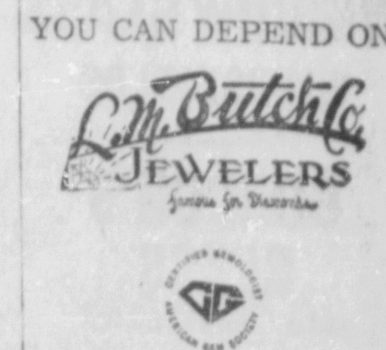

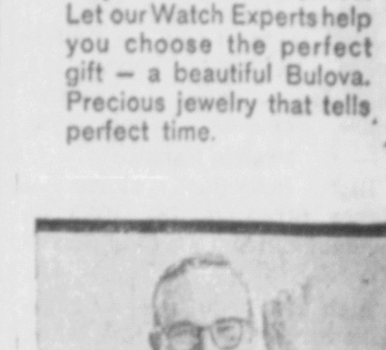

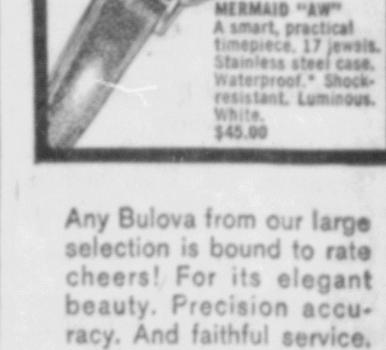

King added that many Republican campaign promises were for programs also advocated by Democrats. "There's no excuse now for not doing what they said they would. They've got the votes."

How the Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

A complex low pressure system in the Great Lakes region was responsible for a variety of weather around the state early Tuesday morning.

Freezing rain and snow fell in the northern counties while through central Ohio showers and drizzle were the main weather features.

In the southern counties partly cloudy to cloudy skies held forth and temperatures were reported in the mid 40s.

Overnight lows in the northern areas were in the lower 30s and shortly before sunrise the range was from 46 at Chesapeake to 33 at Toledo and Youngstown.

Earlier Tuesday morning Cleveland reported a thunderstorm and Toledo reported 4 inches of snow on the ground. Cleveland had 2 inches and Akron and Youngstown had 1 inch.

The low pressure will hold cloudiness over the state through Wednesday and daytime highs Wednesday will be slightly over the normals and for the most part range from the upper 30s in the northern cities to the lower 50s in extreme southern Ohio.

CENTRAL OHIO — Cloudy and mild tonight and Wednesday. Low tonight: lower 30s. High Wednesday: middle 40s.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday. Scattered showers and mild Wednesday. Cool tonight. Low: 25-32.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday. High Wednesday: 40s. Low tonight: lower 30s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Mostly cloudy tonight. Low in the 30s. Wednesday rather cloudy with little temperature change.

Ho Ho Ho Indeed! Santa Is in Jug

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP) — Santa Claus no longer interviews youngsters at Levin's department store. He was arrested for shoplifting.

William J. Nicholson, who was under the whisks and Santa Claus suit was charged Monday with stealing a $1.50 bottle of men's cologne and a 37-cent bottle of corn and callous remover.

The store will remain without a Santa Claus for the rest of the season, according to Stanley Levin, president.
